Romulus City Treasurer Beverly McAnally, made history last night.

Mrs. McAnally, picked up 3,134 votes to become this city's first woman mayor. She topped incumbent Mayor William Oakley by more than 500 votes in the unofficial tally to win a stunning victory over the three-term mayor.

Oakley received 2,608 votes.

In another surprise, former Deputy Clerk, Linda Choate, made a successful comeback by defeating incumbent Ray Cantrell for the City Clerk's office. Mrs. Choate received 2,694 votes to Cantrell's 2,479.

Councilman John Lewkowicz will have his old job back as City Treasurer. Lewkowicz defeated Rita McLenon by 116 votes and will return to the office he held before he was defeated in 1979 by Mrs. McAnally.

The City Council line-up will have one new member—William Wadsworth who received 1,970 votes.

The City Council will include Mary Ann Banks, the top vote getter whose 3,428 votes assured her the role of Mayor Pro Tem. Also re-elected were Jimmie Rasberry (2,798), Alan Lambert (2,518), Barry Bauriann (2,473), Fred Junior Block (2,385) and Pete Bergere (2,285).

Unsuccessful council candidates included: Kathy McCallum (1,915), Ellis Pennington (1,799), Richard Yeramian (1,676), Roger Cadaret (1,634), John Lewis (1,600), Fred Williams (1,539) and Theodore Jacques (940).

The voters also turned down the two school millage propositions placed on the ballot. The request for 6.5 mill tax increase for school operation was rejected 3,140 to 1,948 while the proposal for a 1.5 mill tax hike for school building repairs was turned down 3,002 to 1,949.

There was a total of 5,823 votes cast.

The Romulus Roman will present complete election results and an analysis next week.

Election fever

Like thousands of citizens throughout the state, Romulus and Belleville residents remembered to vote in Tuesday's elections. (Left) Greg Brothers leaves a voting booth in Romulus at 10:45 a.m., the 42nd person to vote in the 12th precinct and at right at 11:10, Max Koeppe was the 70th person to vote in Belleville's second precinct. While Romulus citizens elected a new slate of city officials, Belleville voters decided between two of three council members.

'It was a real tragedy'

Police say drinking involved in crash that killed teen

Sumpter Township police are continuing their investigation into the death of a 15-year-old New Boston youth who lost his life in an auto accident early Friday morning on Haggerty Road near Arkona.

The victim, John Rufus Peay, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident by the medical examiner.

Peay was one of five passengers in the vehicle driven by John David Kilgore of Sumpter Township, Kilgore, 17, and five other youths in the car had been drinking prior to the accident, police said.

"It's a real tragedy," said Sumpter Police Chief Clinton

Brown. "We're continuing our investigation. We are waiting for the autopsy report before we act on this case."

'What we know is that the group had consumed about three bottles of vodka prior to the accident.'

Chief Brown said he is trying to piece together the events that led to the township's second fatality. "What we know is that the group had consumed about three bottles of vodka prior to the accident and that the driver of the vehicle was traveling erratically at a high rate of speed. He lost control of the car on southbound Haggerty near Arkona and the vehicle turned over on the side coming to a stop in about two feet of water.

"Whether the Peay boy died of injuries sustained in the crash or from drowning in the water, we just don't know. We are waiting the outcome from the medical examiner's report."

Chief Brown said that although there were five youths, whose ages range from 15 to 17 at the scene of the accident, it is believed a sixth person also was involved. The sixth youth apparently walked away from the crash in a daze.

Brown added that the driver of the vehicle had picked up the passengers and they were heading to New Boston High School where all are students.

"Somewhere and sometime between their home and approximately 8:30 a.m. these kids began drinking. Where they got the vodka we don't know."

"This is one of those unfortunate cases. A real tragedy," Chief Brown added.

Toxic waste controversy

Downriver civic leaders and Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack are questioning a consent contract hurriedly signed by the Dept. of Natural Resources this week exempting Wayne Disposal Company from liability for hazardous wastes that might be found in the Arsenal Road landfill near Flat Rock.

A DNR team led by John Kennedy of the Office of Environmental Enforcement took samples last week of liquids oozing from the site and are awaiting results due by December 1. In the meanwhile, Wayne Disposal has agreed to "recap and reditch" the landfill which was closed 11 years ago.

Lawsuit in Appeals Court

Ad Hoc panel seeks fair school aid

In their quest to find an equitable way to fund Michigan schools, state legislators have scheduled a series of public hearings in order to receive input from local educators.

Gary Owen (D-Ypsilanti) and Speaker of the House has appointed a 14-member Ad Hoc Committee on Michigan's K-12 education system. The committee is holding the series of hearings whose goal is to study the total system's efficiency and cost effectiveness.

Hearings have been held in Petoskey, Wayne, Muskegon, Port Huron, Lansing and on Monday, Nov. 14, Bay City will host the final hearing scheduled for 10 a.m., in the Bay City Schools' Administration Building, 910 N. Walnut.

Among other things, the Ad Hoc Committee will focus on ways to promote cooperative efforts among local districts to avoid duplication of services. The committee will also study financial incentives to encourage districts to raise the quality of education programs.

Legislators also will consider policies to reduce the financial disparities between districts within existing resources.

Romulus and its Board of Education last year initiated a lawsuit that challenges the constitutionality of the State of Michigan's funding to public education. There are presently 23 school districts that have joined in the suit.

The matter is presently pending before the State Appeals Court.

On October 31, Dr. William M. Bedell, Superintendent of Romulus Schools, presented testimony to the Ad Hoc Committee and pointed out to members of that panel that 97 percent of the black children in Wayne County are in "poor" school districts.

Dr. Bedell also said that teachers in "poor" districts earn $1,621 less a year than their counterparts in the more wealthier districts and that taxpayers in the "rich" districts pay 8 fewer mills.

'Chemical People' brings reality home

"The Chemical People," public television's massive project to organize the community to combat school-age substance abuse, will reach its peak Wednesday, Nov. 9, when thousands of people in southeastern Michigan will attend more than 80 town meetings scheduled to coincide with WTVS's presentation of part two of "The Chemical People."

Romulus and Huron residents may view the conclusion at the Romulus High, 9650 S. Wayne Road.

After the airing of part one on Wednesday, Nov. 2, WTVS received over 1,200 calls on a special phone line set up to give viewers the locations of the town meetings.

The meetings convene at 7:30 p.m. (list of locations enclosed). Participants will view "The Che-

Senior center planned

There may be a senior center in Belleville after all.

Approximately 40 local and area residents showed up last week to attend a scheduled public hearing on whether the City of Belleville, via federal funds, should construct a senior citizens complex.

The construction, a six-story building, would serve Belleville residents as well as those from Romulus and Van Buren. Those who attended the meeting were overwhelmingly in favor of the complex.

"The sooner the better," said one of the seniors who walked away pleased with the meeting.

Frank Pascarella, Belleville City Manager, pointed out that the preliminary plans of the project were reviewed with residents and only a few minor details were changed.

The money for the project would come from a $5.1 million grant from the federal Housing and Urban Development Department.

"The most startling figure is that there are 3 million problem drinkers under the age of 17..."

how communities can form permanent task forces to combat school-age substance abuse locally. After the viewing, each meeting will offer a panel of experts, comprised of antisubstance abuse professionals, school personnel, law enforcement personnel and parents, to answer (See DRUG ABUSE Page 3)

Romulus High holds parent, teacher talks

Parent-Teacher conferences have been scheduled at Romulus Senior High School, for Thurs., Nov. 10 at 12:15 p.m. until 3:15 p.m. and from 5 to 8:30 p.m.

Students will be in school a half-day and will be dismissed at 10:50 a.m.

School officials stress that the conferences give parents an opportunity to learn about their child's progress in the classroom and also provides for a dialogue between parent-teacher.

Letters will be sent to each home with additional information about the parent-teacher conferences. The student grades will be available in the high school office for parents to peruse.

Also, parents of 10th graders may meet with counselors who will be able to interpret the results of the Michigan Educational Assessment Program.

Parents who seek further information should telephone 941-2170.

Members of the Rainbow Pledge group made a trip to Greenfield Village Sunday evening and enjoyed the various Halloween activities. They were accompanied by Denise Welt, her brother, Dean, and several of the girls mothers.

Robert and Cindi Warblow of Grand Rapids spent the week-end with his parents, the Fred Warblows of Van Born Road.

Grenada casualty

Belleville soldier 'is doing fine'

"He's doing just fine. In fact my wife flew down to North Carolina to see him."

Those are the words of Thomas Denney Sr., whose son, Spec. 4 Thomas Denney, Jr., was wounded last week in Grenada, when his M16 rifle accidentally discharged.

Spec. 4 Denney, 22, an Army military policeman, was flown from Grenada to Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio after serving four days on the Caribbean Island. On Friday, he was transferred to Ft. Bragg, N.C.

"My wife left to see our son, and she says he's doing fine," Denney said.

According to published reports, Denney injured his left hand when he sat down with his hand on the M16's flash suppressor, on top of the rifle barrel, and the weapon accidentally went off. Denney had just completed guard duty.

Denney's unit, the 118th Military Police, arrived on the island on October 27. The island had been taken over by Cuban and Soviet-backed Communist rebels, who surrendered to the U.S. forces last week. The unit was assigned to help with the evacuation of refugees and guard prisoners.

The 118th immediately set up a prisoner-of-war camp which was charged with guarding 700 Cubans, according to reports.

Denney said that in the Cuban group were "some workers and some were soldiers."

After the discharge of his rifle, Denney was rushed to a hospital where he was treated. He noticed that "all of the equipment in that hospital has Soviet markings."

Denney Sr. said that his son is scheduled to be discharged from the Army sometime in December.

"We'll be happy to have him home," he added.

Controversial coach is hired by Trenton

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

When boys' basketball season begins in early December, Dan Henry will return to the coaching ranks. He will not be guiding the Westland John Glenn Rockets, however.

Instead of Glenn, Henry will be coaching the Trenton Trojans. He was named to the job last week when Trenton announced that Jim Ryan, the previous mentor of the Trojans, was going to devote all of his time to an administrative job this winter, and would be retiring from the coaching ranks.

Henry was denied the coaching job at Glenn earlier this year when a four-member committee which awards coaching positions told him he was not the most qualified applicant for the job. Henry said at the time that he felt his trial on sexual misconduct charges involving a student may have influenced the decision. Henry, who was acquitted of the charge, has filed a grievance with the teacher's union requesting that he be reinstated as coach.

Henry coached the Rockets for three seasons before being replaced this fall by Gordon Davis. In his three seasons behind the Rocket bench, Henry had a career mark of 41-21, and was named Coach of the Year by Associated Newspapers in 1980.

Robert Kowalczyk, executive director of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, said that the union advised Henry to seek a coaching job elsewhere, since the grievance procedure could take several months.

"Because of the complexity of this case, we need time, we may have to pick an arbitrator, if necessary, and talk to the administration," said Kowalczyk. "We think that it could be close to the end of the season before this is settled, and we advised Dan to look elsewhere if he wanted to coach this year."

Henry was also fired from his coaching job in 1980, and won the position back following arbitration.

"It wouldn't have been fair to the kids to come in at the middle of the season and change coaches," said Henry. "That would just create more problems than it would be worth."

As for Trenton, Henry commented that he is looking forward to leading a new team, even though he will miss the youngsters he has been associated with at Glenn.

"I have two seniors that I have been coaching since they were in seventh grade, and I feel bad about leaving them, and the rest of the team," said Henry. "But now, my loyalty has to be to Trenton. I feel very fortunate that I got the job this late in the year. I'm not used to idle time, and I wasn't looking forward to just teaching all winter.

"I've found something out about myself during this whole thing," continued Henry. "I'm not cut out to be just a teacher. I believe there is still a lot of time left to work with kids after 3:30, and I believe this job will give me the opportunity to do that. I am originally from downriver, and it will be nice to go back."

Should Henry win the grievance he has filed, he is undecided about where he will coach next year.

"Right now, I just want to take each day one at a time," Henry said. "I'm excited about working with the people in Trenton. That is my top priority now."

Consortium of 23 school districts on the question of financial disparities existing among school districts in the State of Michigan. We greatly appreciate Speaker Owens creating your committee and we are pleased with the legislative quality and past commitment to education represented by the membership of your group.

"In December of 1981, we published an article in the Michigan School Board Journal entitled, 'Educational Equality — A Michigan Myth.' We quoted certain statistical information supporting our contention that our state aid distribution system is grossly unfair and unconstitutional.

"At that time, we reported that 'out-of-formula' school districts in Wayne County levied eight (8) fewer mills than their 'in-formula' counterparts and spent $472 more per pupil per year with an average class size that was three pupils less. We did an update of that data and we would note for your information that the millage difference is still at approximately (8) mills and the class size disparity is still approximately three pupils.

"The difference in average expenditure per pupil, however, has risen from $472 to $890. Remember, the people have $890 more spent on the average on their children are paying eight (8) mills less on the average in school tax.

"We've gathered several additional statistics which will be of interest to you. If we examine the teacher salaries of the thirty-six (36) districts in the County, we months if not years before a resolution of the matter comes from the State Supreme Court.

"Each district in the suit has also included a child as a plaintiff and it occurs to us that it is truly unfortunate that school districts and children of this State have to go to court to stop these injustices. The solution to this problem does not necessarily mean that rich school districts have to mail money to poor school districts. There are several plans that have been proposed that will place more equity into educational financing without damaging other school districts' tax base. It is my opinion, however, that school districts cannot expect to have large expenditures per pupil and ridiculously low tax rates simultaneously.

"Numerous state court systems have ruled that similar state aid distribution systems are unconstitutional. I would hope that this committee would spearhead an effort to deal with this problem before the courts mandate (and perhaps participate in) a solution. As a Committee, you will be dealing with many problems in education, but for those of us that are in high tax areas with limited resources, none is more important than financial equity.

"We recently testified before the Michigan High School Commission. One of their recommendations is to expand the school year to 200 days and 1,000 hours. We are a school district that has in the past three years frozen all non-teaching wages for three years, cut teacher salaries 22 percent, gone on a five-hour day, eliminated art, music, and physical education, laid off 30 percent of the entire work force, closed 1/3 of its buildings, and generally disseminated its program. This with a school tax levy in the top 10 percent in the State.

"As you can see from this litany of woes, we consider reports such as the High School Commission's that proposes this kind of massive increase in program to be rhetorical at best.

"Whatever else your report does, it must deal with school finance and equity. The problem can no longer be ignored, hidden by smoke, or patched with temporary band-aids. If we must spend $4,500 a year on certain pupils and $2,000 on others; we had better stop using the accident of geographic location to determine the 'winners' in this cruel lottery.

"Thank you for your attention."

Local Democrats to auction off political memorabilia

Do you want a letter opener inscribed and signed by U.S. Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd?

Or how about a key ring that belonged to Tip O'Neill, the U.S. House of Representatives' Speaker of the House?

Or a G. Mennen Williams bow tie?

And many, many other, memorabilia donated by local, state and national Democratic figures.

The items will be placed in auction at a party labeled "1983 Mixer", sponsored by the 15th District Democratic organization which will be held beginning at 8 p.m., Friday, Nov. 11.

The program is at the UAW Local 735 Hall, 48055 Michigan Avenue in Canton Township.

Tickets are $7.50, and there will be hors d'oeuvres, set-ups, beer and dancing climaxed by the auction.

"We expect an excellent turnout," said Patricia Cullin, ex-Van Buren Township supervisor who is helping to organize the program. "We have an excellent auctioneer in Scott Petticrew and there are many worthwhile items to purchase."

Tickets will be available at the door and further information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Cullin at 697-8315.

Among other items to be auctioned are a McGovern-Shriver Political yard sign, signed by Shriver, as well as five campaign McGovern-Shriver buttons donated by former Van Buren Township Clerk Doreen Craven.

Also on the auction block are: The 7th Edition of the Pictorial History of the Capitol and of the Congress, "The Capital" is signed by the House of Representative Majority Leader Jim Wright. There are two pens that Governor James J. Blanchard used to sign laws. The pens are donated by the governor.

There is a blue T-shirt which says property of Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, donated by the Attorney General as well as a 1983 black leather state House Date Book owned by a donation by State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak.

Lt. Governor Martha W. Griffiths has donated an autographed picture of herself, while Cheryl Cullin has contributed a large collection of old campaign buttons.

There is an autographed picture of President Jimmy and Rosalyn Carter, donated by Alice Porzondek, while a Kennedy T-Shirt is given for auction by Eric Cullin. Mrs. Cullin is placing in auction a Michigan State Flag with "48 stars". There is also a political bumper sticker collection donated by Tammy Cullin-Krug.

History and political campaign buffs will also find a lot of interesting items, according to Mrs. Cullin.

"There is a 'definitive Nixon count-down calendar for 1974' which comes to us from Pat Tallmadge that one will find very interesting," Cullin added. "I think those who attend from both parties will enjoy what is planned."

Romulus's Helen Miller and her "Magic Key".

Does Romulus woman have 'magic key' to $100,000 home?

Helen Miller of Romulus is the holder of one of 95 "Magic Keys," one of which will open the door to a $100,000 Pulte Home in Farmington Hills. The four-bedroom, 2-1/2 bath home is being given away in a six-week joint promotion being conducted by Detroit area radio station WMJC "Magic" 95 FM and Pulte Home Corp., West Bloomfield.

Miller won the "Magic Key" along with $95 in cash by being the ninth caller to radio station WMJC "Magic" 95 FM during the designated "Key Song of the Day." Each "Key Song of the Day" is played weekdays at 7:10 a.m. and weekends at 9:10 a.m. and repeated up to three times throughout each day.

All "Magic Key" winners will try their key in the door of the $100,000 "Magic" home, located in Farmington Green North, Farmington Hills, during a housewarming party Nov. 20. "Magic Key" winner Miller resides at 30203 Jamestown in a ranch house that is up for sale in Romulus with her husband and four children.

The town meetings were organized by local coordinators with the assistance of a steering committee, made up of anti-substance abuse professionals and previously-organized parents groups, and WTVS. Meetings will be held in schools, churches, public buildings and private homes in the five counties of southeastern Michigan: Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Monroe.

The special phone line established by WTVS will be staffed Nov. 4, 5, 7 and 8 from 9:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. On Nov. 9, the phones will be staffed from 9:00 a.m. to 6 p.m. For information on the location of town meetings, interested persons may call 872-7500 (note: this is a special number, not the business line of Channel 56).

"The Chemical People" is based on a successful program pioneered in Pittsburgh by public television station WQED. There, 120 task forces are still operating more than a year later.

Facelift for old City Hall

Sumpter Township's old town hall gets a new look, as work on a major renovation project continues. Workers are constructing new offices for the Sumpter police force and the director of the Sumpter Seniors. All the construction workers are unemployed Sumpter residents, whose salaries are paid by federal jobs bill. Above, the old town hall is across the street from the present one on Sumpter Road. Hix bridge repairs scheduled

The bridge on John Hix Road over the lower Rouge River in Wayne is scheduled to be replaced next year as part of Michigan's Critical Bridge Program, according to State Rep. Edward Mahalak of Romulus.

Total cost of the project, which will include a widening of the one-lane bridge to cover two lanes and sidewalks, is estimated at $325,000. City Engineer Ralph Magid reported. Federal and state funds would account for approximately 90 percent of the improvements with the municipal share to include the remaining 10 percent and design fees.

The John Hix bridge is among 13 bridges on city street systems recommended for replacement by a nine-member committee established under the Critical Bridge Program. Among the factors in considering such span improvements are the condition of the bridge, its importance to the street or road network and the local agency's ability to finance its portion of the expenses.

Some 82 bridges in Michigan have been approved for replacement at a total cost of $21.6 million. Most of the work is set to begin in mid-1984.

Approximately one-third of the state's 10,000 bridges are substandard, according to Department of Transportation estimates. The upcoming bridge replacements represent the greatest number statewide since the critical bridge determination began 11 years ago.

The jolly old man with the beard stopped in town recently to remind folks that the annual Christmas parade is coming up on December 3... and that he needs a little help to get ready. During the next few weeks, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce will be selling tickets for a Christmas raffle to support the parade. The 25 gifts for the winners include a TV set, donated by Bud's TV. Pictured with Santa are two of his local helpers, Pat Birbeck, Christmas program coordinator and manager of Bud's TV, and Bob Samuels, owner of Liggett Printing. Raffle tickets, at $1 each, are available from chamber members or the chamber office.

Sullivan applauds Blanchard on state's landfill stance

State Representative Richard Sullivan (D-New Boston) today commended Governor James J. Blanchard for his actions toward solving the very serious environmental problems posed by landfills in Michigan.

Blanchard today charged the Cabinet Council on Environmental Affairs with looking at legislation, co-sponsored by Sullivan, to place a one-year moratorium on construction of new landfills.

"I have been urging a moratorium almost since the day I arrived in Lansing," Sullivan said.

"We know that we must change the laws regulating hazardous and solid waste disposal in Michigan. Our present law does not contain adequate safeguards for the public, both economically and environmentally. I have co-sponsored a resolution and legislation to impose a one-year moratorium on the licensing of new landfills until we can be sure the public health is protected.

"The Governor has made it clear in his charge to the Cabinet Council that he recognizes the problem and is willing to respond to it."

Sullivan said he concurred with the Governor's desire to find alternatives to the use of landfills.

"We need to find a means to rid ourselves of hazardous wastes rather than to just bury and store them. Many of the 900 sites known or suspected of causing groundwater pollution were landfills. Contamination from landfills is a frightening threat to all of us. The best solution would be to have no landfill storage of hazardous waste."

"Landfills store, rather than dispose of, our waste problems. In the future, state policy should encourage alternatives, including incineration, treatment, recycling and reduction of wastes generated. I am asking the Cabinet to recommend specific programs in this area."

Audit reveals

State overcharged Wayne $2.5 million for child care

Errors in billing procedures show that the state Department of Social Services (DSS) is overcharging Wayne County perhaps as much as $2.5 million annually for child care, a report presented last week to the Audit Committee of the County Commission reveals.

"We recommend an audit before the bills are paid."

— Fred Todd

Prepared by the Office of the County Auditor General, the report said errors amounting to $60,144 were first discovered inadvertently by the juvenile division of Probate Court in February, 1982.

Following that, a review of 120 cases filed in consecutive order found 60 percent errors, and a subsequent investigation of every fifth case in the file identified a 30 percent error rate.

The discrepancy would translate into about $2.5 million that the state is overcharging the county each if the 30 percent error rate is consistent throughout the file, according to the report.

County Chief Financial Officer Fred Todd, present at the meeting, estimated that the County may have been wrongly billed for as much as $2.5 million in the past five years. He said the County Executive branch has informed the state that it recognizes overbilling and has ceased paying the charges since a year ago.

"The billings are inaccurate and we are not paying them now," said Todd. "We recommend an audit before the bills are paid."

The report points to common mistakes in the billing system that include incorrect classification of children eligible for aid to dependent children-foster care, discrepancies in the dates when children enter or leave the system, and human and computer errors.

The report was referred to the County Executive Office for action resolving the problems, with follow-up by the committee in 30 days.

Members of the Audit Committee are Richard E. Manning, Detroit-Redford, chairman; Samuel A. Turner, Detroit, vice-chairman; Mary E. Dumas, Livonia; John C. Hertel, Harper Woods; Milton Mack, Wayne; and Arthur M. Carter and Bernard N. Kilpatrick from Detroit.

Carrier of the Week

Theresa Ward

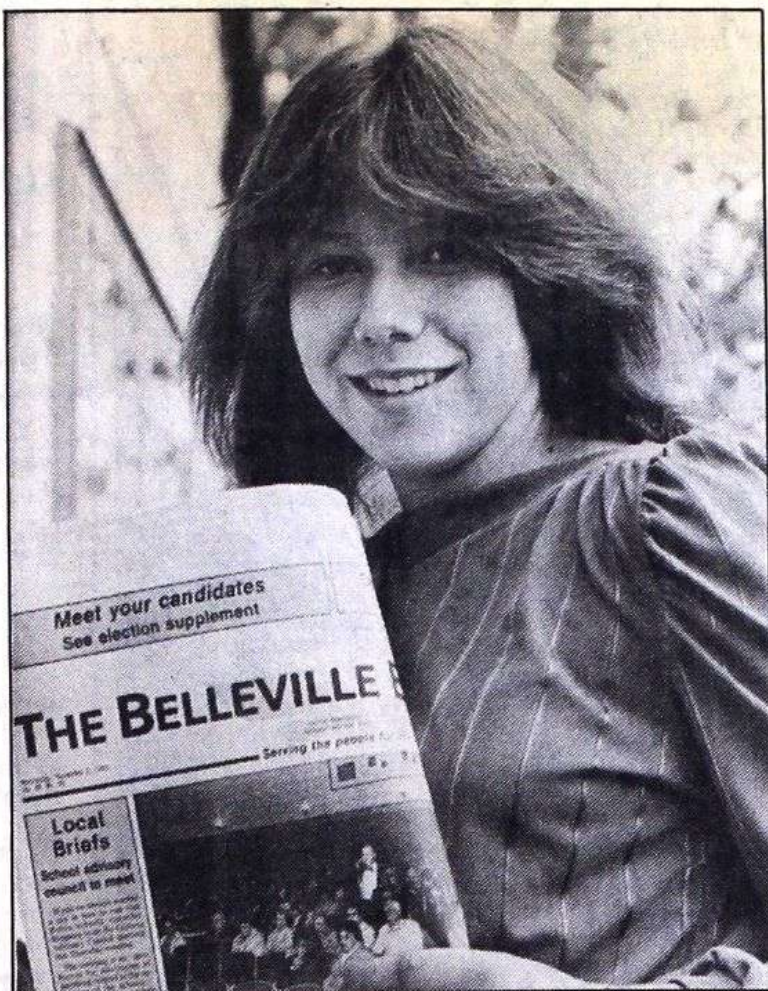

It only takes Theresa Ward of Belleville about an hour and a half to deliver the Belleville Enterprise to her more than 70 customers . . . and she credits her success to that timing.

Theresa, 13, the daughter of Tom and Joan Ward of Chatsworth, is an eighth grade student at North Junior High School. Her favorite subject is art which she also pursues as a hobby. Presently, her class is working in watercolors and Theresa enjoys that tremendously.

"I plan on going to college and I'd like to teach art to handicapped kids. I really enjoy working with kids," the Carrier of the Week noted. She's had some experience working with younger children with her mother through the family church.

Of the customers on Theresa's route, only a few have changed through her three years as a carrier. They are all, she admits shyly, "kind of like old friends."

"I just try to get them their papers on time and get the collections done on time," Theresa said. Most of her money is going toward expanding her wardrobe and she enjoys stamp collecting along with her artistic efforts as a hobby.

"I really just try to keep my customers happy. I always try to deliver on time and put the paper where they want it," she added.

Carriers of the week will be selected by the Associated Newspapers Circulation Department based on prompt payment of bills, fewest customer complaints and overall outstanding achievement.

SMILES ARE THE ANSWER — PROBLEMS CAN BE SOLVED

Dear Letter Writer:

Please help me tell the world to lay off. My life is full of pressure and harassment. Give me a break. I'm really sick of the hassle. I know this may sound silly, but please write a letter for me to use to help myself feel better and get rid of this tension and frustration.

Sincerely, A Friend

Dear Friend:

Instead of writing a letter to the world for you, I have written a letter to you from me.

The world probably won't "lay off" no matter what you tell it. The world and the people in it are just that way; that is the way they are. The only shot we human beings have is to retain control of our lives and view all happenings as a challenge.

I ask you, first, to accept the premise that we are all on this planet for a reason. For some people, the reason is crystal clear and for others a total unknown. There does seem to be peace among those individuals who can identify their special purposes.

It would follow then that the first step toward a resolution of tension would be to understand the meaning and purpose of our own lives. This revelation must come from within each of us. It is important to remember that your life's path may change many, many times and some of your tasks may come to an end only to be replaced by others. Therefore, be flexible and ready to accept each day for what it has to offer. Many people are so busy waiting for something to happen that they miss what is going on at the moment. Thus begins the chore of prioritizing problems before an overload occurs.

Most problems, absent procrastination, can be solved quickly and easily. Procrastination is the beginning of an overload. Some problems require more thought, overt action or perhaps even financial or emotional involvement. These problems are still solvable; the trick is to plunge in and put them to rest. Finally, problems that cannot be readily solved should be filed into the category, "There is really nothing that I can do. I must forgive, forget, or accept the reality."

When you have created this special filing system and use it daily, you will be able to clearly identify those things that you can and those things that you cannot control or change. What a relief this process provides — emotional peace of mind.

Very often we hear people saying, "she creates all her own problems;" "I've had it;" "I'm sick of the pressure;" "I can't deal with this anymore;" "I can't cope" and "I can't go on."

When someone says these things to you, BE A FRIEND. They are reaching out and want you to listen and understand. That's all they want, no more.

Life must be pretty special because we DO CONTINUE to deal and cope and conduct our lives on varying levels of happiness. You don't necessarily create your own problems, however, your level of happiness seems to be totally dependent on your ability to handle those problems that you face. Thus, if you have a problem, solve it; if you can't solve it, put it away.

A smile is an extraordinary coping mechanism available to all of us. A smile has an amazing affect on others and a cleansing effect on us individually. A smiling face is hard to argue with or treat poorly. A smile is free and requires little or no effort. A smile cures, heals and makes everything well. A smile makes you pretty or handsome. Smiling people are nice to be around. The more stress, the more you should smile.

After all, life is almost perfect.

Attention, veterans

Veterans and their survivors who are receiving VA pension checks under the "improved" pension plan will receive a 3.5 percent cost of living increase effective December 1, 1983.

VA pensions are paid to wartime veterans totally and permanently disabled from circumstances unrelated to their military service. They are paid also to survivors of wartime veterans who are in need.

Unlike compensation paid to those disabled because of military service, pensions are affected by income from other sources.

The first check to be received by beneficiaries reflecting the cost-of-living increase will be the check received on or about January 1, 1984.

Veterans and their survivors who are receiving benefits under the "improved" pension plan of 1979 will receive the increase.

Pensions for veterans and survivors under the "old" plan remain fixed and payable at the rates in effect in 1978. But those rates are protected against termination that would otherwise result from cost-of-living increases in their income from Social Security.

"Old" plan recipients may request transfer to the "improved" plan at any time and VA will carefully review each application to advise applicants to choose the plan which works best to their personal advantage.

Rates and details about the pension increase and the program in general are available from any VA regional office or from a representative of a veterans service organization.

Toll-free telephone service to VA regional offices is available nationwide. Just consult the "U.S. Government" listings in your local directory for the number in your area.

our opinions

'They borne the battle'

Veterans' Day - 1983

War is Hell.

No one will deny that. There are never really any victors in war. Nations and people who try to solve political problems by firing rockets, dropping bombs and shooting at one another leave only wounds that are never healed.

Unfortunately, mankind has never seemed to learn from history. It appears doomed to repeat it.

Even in "peacetime," as America has learned by the recent tragic incidents in Beirut, Americans must sacrifice their loved ones. Blessed may be the peacemaker, but the grim fact is even by paying the supreme price there is no peace.

For nearly two centuries this nation has fought against tyranny and totalitarianism so that we can live in the manner we choose.

And, on Friday, November 11, America pauses to pay tribute and give thanks to those men and women — our veterans — who protected our shores from foreign invaders and fought in European cities and towns, and on islands in the South Pacific, against those who would enslave us and destroy our democratic form of government.

The Veterans Administration tells us that there are approximately 28 million veterans of whom 85 percent wore their uniforms in wartime. Thanks to these men and women we have become the ray of hope for the free world.

We know that there are nations that would quickly and mercilessly destroy us if we didn't have the means to defend ourselves.

Grenada proved once again, if we needed further proof, that our enemies are ready to strike wherever and whenever the opportunity may arise.

We should never forget the lessons that history have taught us. "Peace in our time" can't be purchased by words and dreams alone. Only by remaining a strong and united nation can the message deter the aggressor.

Moreover, let us always remember that this nation stands free because of its veterans.

And we must always carry out the words of Abraham Lincoln, who asked this nation "to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan."

Unto Caesar

When taxes are news

A Canton Township board trustee is delinquent in property tax payments. That information, a matter of public record, was brought to our attention via a phone call from a reader.

This fact, the caller insisted, is news and should be printed in our paper. A public figure gives up his or her right to privacy, and the taxpayers should be aware that one of their representatives is remiss in a situation that hampers the ability to serve the public, the caller explained.

The call prompted some soul-searching. (Yes, journalists do have souls, and even hearts). We asked ourselves the following questions.

Is this news? Is there a timely nature to the fact, something that makes this important to the public now? No.

Is the board member purposely avoiding tax payments, as some citizens have, to make a statement or take a stand? No, we discovered after checking, the trustee, like hundreds of others, is making every effort to pay the taxes and will do so as soon as possible.

Omitting the name, would we still have a story? Is it news when you or your neighbor is unable to pay taxes promptly? Hardly.

Failure to pay taxes on time is not a crime. Whether a public or private citizen, those unable to pay promptly must include penalty and interest payment amounts with late payments or risk losing property.

Finally does an inability to afford tax payment adversely affect a person's ability to hold public office? We can't find a conflict. On the contrary — politicians are often accused of "buying" their positions, of being callous and removed from the daily problems of constituents. Perhaps there are many to whom these accusations might not apply.

Still interested in the identity of the trustee? If so, we suggest you peruse the tax rolls at township hall where that name along with hundreds of your Canton neighbors, is listed.

And if again we consider extracting a single name from the delinquent file for publication, we'll also consider publishing the list in its entirety. And that, we suspect, might prove that journalists truly are without hearts.

Guess what he wants for Christmas

editorial feedback

Is this recall necessary?

As an Inkster resident for many years, I challenge the credibility of Mr. Montgomery's statements regarding his efforts to recall State Senator Patrick McCollough.

My first challenge concerns the fact that Mr. Montgomery gave the impression that he is an Inkster resident. The information I have indicates that he actually resides in Dearborn.

Secondly, he states that the recall people are a non-partisan group who are fed up with elected officials who do not faithfully represent their views in Lansing.

Since his group did not attempt a recall effort during the twenty years of Republican Administration, yet filed a recall petition within six months of the Democratic Administration, we must conclude that they are either very partisan, or that they felt their views were being faithfully represented by an Administration that left this State $1.7 billion in debt, and in fiscal, economic and social chaos. In either case, imagine how fed up the rest of us are with the recall groups, who are neither elected by us, nor represent our views.

Mr. Montgomery further implies that the Senator's vote was contrary to the wishes of all of his constituents. I do not pretend to speak for all of the people who applaud the Senator for his courageous stand on this issue. Not because we enjoy paying taxes, but because we are concerned and care about the education of our young people, the needs of our senior citizens, the plight of the unemployed and their families, the well-being of the physically and mentally handicapped and the very survival of the State itself. I am confident that the overwhelming majority of the people in the other cities of the 10th Senate District share our concern and compassion.

Mr. Montgomery also states that it is up to those paying the bills to decide on the acceptable level of spending. Is his recall group willing to pay the $160,000 and more than it would cost to hold a special recall election? Of course not — he expects the rest of us taxpayers to finance his personal vendetta. I doubt that the entire recall committee combined will pay enough State income tax during their lifetime to finance a single recall election.

If you are looking for a blatant waste of taxpayers money, Mr. Montgomery, not only have you found it — you are promoting it.

Environmental group accomplished its mission

The wide base of support in the audience at the DNR Toxic Waste Hearing held Oct. 27 at Belleville High has reinforced the Van Buren Township Board's policy — to draw the line on the exploitation of our resources, and shows it is not only appreciated, but needed by our community and neighbors.

A big 'Welcome Mr. Skoog' was heard after he stated that the request by the landfill owners to amend their permit to take more dangerous toxic wastes, would be denied.

As the township's representative to the newly formed Environmental Commission, I want to submit to you the role the 5 members have played in the decision making process of the township with some long overdue, well documented issues.

Belleville Lake

Requested and received a DNR Hearing regarding the high rate of speed that boats travel on Belleville Lake. Results: The DNR said to try stricter enforcement of already existing laws before implementing an almost irrevocable change. The township board related this as well as many complaints to the Wayne County Sheriff's office... the response was a well organized patrol of our lake, at no cost to the Township, and excellent results.

DNR failure to properly test and monitor feeder drains to the lake and the long term damage that could result... If you attended the hearing in October, or the Township Board meeting of Oct. 25, you heard that the Begole and Quirk Drains will be tested — they pass through the landfill and would be excellent indicators of surface water changes (as well as 5 test wells for groundwater contamination).

The query to the Huron Valley Watershed regarding Willow Creek, (a polluter since World War II), and the ensuring testing being pursued by that body should finally put it on the Superfund Clean-up — particularly if it is properly tested.

The Landfill

The firm challenge of the DNR's "Grandfathering permits" without the benefit of an environmental impact study in the dumping area. I believe that the Township's decision to pursue legal relief to remedy the situation resulted in the first step, a denial to the owner of the permit, thus opening the door to having Van Buren's rights protected.

Gathered information regarding the township's right to monitor, regulate some procedures and limit hours of operation of Landfill's/sand removal operations within our boundaries. The board recently began the process of implementing the ordinance covering these issues, which will be accompanied by a schedule of violation fine fees which will return to the Township along with the right to receive fees to cover this process.

Sitting side by side with this group is time consuming, but I am well aware that for every hour I put in, my colleagues put in two. The Environmental Commission has earned the respect of the Community. On behalf of Van Buren Township — Thank you to Milton Riggs, Ed Ryznar, Tina LaPend, Tim Burns and Denise Partridge.

The telephone caller said she wasn't angry, just hurt. She felt, as those who called before her and subsequently those who followed her, that her candidate should have received this newspaper's endorsement.

And, we would be the first to agree that "Campaign '83" did produce an excellent crop of candidates be it in Wayne, Westland, Romulus or Inkster.

For the first time in recent years, moreover, one really felt that there was an election going on in Wayne. People were actually taking time to study each and every candidate, debate their qualifications, and none of the candidates could, with certainty say they would be re-elected or elected.

It was a pleasant surprise.

The perfect escape for the newspaper, of course, was not to endorse.

But, as each voter has a responsibility to cast their ballot, so, we feel, has a newspaper the responsibility to offer its recommendations. After all, our editorial staff sits in on council meetings, listens to what appears to be endless debates about everything from a fence being constructed to a multi-million dollar contract being awarded.

This thorny position of endorsements creates as many enemies as friends.

And, by all measures and criteria, we know we are not experts in evaluating all of the candidates. Some candidate say little, do a lot. So we run the gamut of antagonizing a future mayor, councilperson, city official when we endorse. To remain uncommitted because someone (or many) may be hostile to what we place on blank pieces of paper would be to abdicate a freedom won over hundreds of years by men and women who believe in freedom.

Our society, as we know it, couldn't endure without news printed and written by men and women who are free to report the facts as unveiled. What this society must fear the most is the public information officer who feeds the press what those in power want us to believe. Reporters must continue to dig for "hard" news. Newspapers are now 85 percent "soft."

To say what happened on Grenada — refusal by the military to allow in-depth press coverage until it was safe — is one giant step toward totalitarianism. Ernie Pyle must have rolled over in his grave.

During the rash of calls last week, I believe one woman said it best when she remarked:

"I like my candidate. I think she will do an excellent job for this city. But I am very happy that you people at the newspaper offered me another glimpse. You didn't change my mind. But at least the vote is mine and I will use it the way I believe it will be most helpful to this community."

As long as we have people who are not afraid to express their opinions and who are ready to go to the polls to back them up, this nation will endure.

Westland made no mistake on cable TV

EDITOR — Westland voters made an informed decision but unfortunately the issues of city-owned cable TV can not be put to rest. It makes little sense for councilmen to state at public meetings that "citizens didn't understand" and "Citizens were misled." The citizens of Westland DID understand. The citizens knew what they were doing. To say they didn't; is an insult to their intelligence.

There were many reasons why the concept of a supposedly city-owned Cable TV system, as presented, failed. A recitation of the entire issue would require more space than available, so I will list only a few of the documented reasons why the proposal failed:

First, Westland would NOT have owned the major components of the system. The company, Omnicom, would have owned the headend, the towers, the earth station, and the antennas. Westland would have ONLY owned the wires hanging around the city.

Second, the newly formed company, of May 1, 1979, has never put up an inch of cable before submitting their proposal on May 23, 1980. On July 17, 1980, they had to advertise, in the Dodge Bulletin, for a company to manage and build the system. This same company sold eighty percent of their stock to Capital Cities Communications in the spring of 1980, before presenting their proposal. At that time, Capital Cities was not even in the Cable TV business.

Third, under the proposal, the wiring for the city of Westland would have cost twice what a complete system—including headend, antennas, earth station, towers, and studios — should have cost.

Fourth, after 13 years of payments, Westland would still owe three million dollars on a partial system.

Fifth, the proposal called for Westland to pay four hundred forty-four thousand dollars to watch another company build our system.

Sixth, the 15 percent cost plus contract which the company wanted, in order to "build" our system, included allowing them to tell us what we needed. The more the system cost, the more they would get.

These are but a few of the many reasons why the People of Westland were NOT mistaken when they rejected this financially unsound and stupid proposal. Some of our city leaders were, I believe, foolish in their zeal "to get Cable." Fortunately, citizens took time to become informed and vote intelligently. I hope the city leadership will now look forward to a sound economic proposal instead of continuing to look backward to a mistake, which was almost not prevented in time.

Road repairs significant

EDITOR — As winter approaches and the 1983 construction season draws to a close I would like to remind your readers of the significant highway improvements that have occurred in our area. The reconstruction of Ford Road is now complete and the reconstruction of Warren Road west of Inkster Road is well under way. In addition, significant portions of Wayne Road have been widened and resurfaced.

We are fortunate for the cooperation existent between past and present city, county, state and federal officials in these undertakings. Most importantly, recognition and thanks must be given to our people, who have financed these projects.

In addition, I would like to remind everyone of former Representative Thomas H. Brown's diligent work and perservance to make these improvements possible. Godspeed to all persons who travel on our roads and highways.

The 'silly season' hits Romulus

EDITOR — "Silly Season" is upon us. I had to check my calendar to make sure we had just celebrated Halloween and not April Fool's Day.

Silly No. 1: The President's Committee on Education has decreed that schools are in a state of crisis and the President had cut the Federal Budget for Education.

Silly No. 2: The State of Michigan has guaranteed economically unbalanced school systems by its method of funding, and our politicians have not yet solved the problem by legislation.

Silly No. 3: The citizens of Romulus became upset because the teachers put up a billboard depicting an apple and a screw to show their discontent over a 22½ percent pay cut.

Silly No. 4: The ultimate "Silly"; elementary teachers in Romulus were ordered to celebrate Halloween in school.

The students in Romulus have been forced to lose many educational benefits that most students in the State of Michigan take for granted. There is no elementary gym, art, music or recess. There are no field trips and the school day has been shortened by one hour.

Parent-Teacher conferences have been shortened to one afternoon and one evening and if every 15 minute time slot is filled we can hold 22 conferences.

The problem is class sizes are 30 or more students per classroom, so we either hold 10 minute conferences or tell some parents not to come to school to meet their child's teacher.

There are overcrowded classes, most of them have 30 or more students and there have been classes as large as 37. In order to maintain those class sizes, there are many classes with two grades in one room, called "splits".

There was a serious asbestos problem in the high school that took too many years to be corrected. A new ceiling was finally installed, but the roof was not repaired and the new ceiling may be destroyed. We are certain there have been citizen complaints, but apparently not enough to cause a change in the conditions under which your Romulus children are educated UNTIL NOW! The elementary teachers decided they would not have parties this year. When classes were told there would not be a party, many teachers reported their students did not voice any objections.

However, I guess an overwhelming number of students did object to their parents because the parents called the schools, the administration offices and probably the School Board members.

Meetings were held and, we assume, principals were directed to celebrate Halloween parties. Your voices were heard.

The teachers took the position of not having a Halloween Party because we are "Working to Rule" this year due to our 22½ percent pay cut. We are teaching children but are not doing extra volunteer work. We consider parties an extra and they take away from the educational process. The Romulus teachers did not withhold their services to the children. We did not strike.

We worked last year as if nothing had happened (except to wear black on pay day) because we were waiting for the problem to be settled in a court of law. We are still waiting and are being treated as if nothing serious had happened, as though we did not lose over one-fifth of our salary. We are getting a little impatient so we took the unpopular stand of a billboard and not having a Halloween Party. Goodness gracious!

Romulus citizens, this experience indicates how much power you really do have. When enough of you voiced your disapproval — the administration listened. We believe they will listen to you about the other problems too, if enough of you will let them know that you really do care about the plight of the Romulus Community Schools.

'A nation at risk?'

EDITOR — When the smoke clears and an honest analysis is made of "A Nation At Risk" (report of the President's Commission on Excellence in Education), WHERE ARE WE?

Phillip E. Runkel, Supt. of Public Instruction, attempts to soothe and convince us that all will be better with more of the same, with more money to perpetuate the same disastrous philosophy. We are not convinced.

In looking for solutions to the devastating mediocrity, how is it that so little has been said of the philosophies of education? How is it that the schools, traditionally the only institutions to develop the mind, teach the three R's, and pass on our heritage, are now rapidly becoming little more than promoters of atheistic Secular Humanism?

Secular Humanism denies the deity of God, the inspiration of the Bible, and the divinity of Jesus Christ. Secular Humanism believes that there are no absolutes, no right, no wrong — that moral values are self-determined and situational. Do your own thing, "as long as it does not harm anyone else." (Humanist beliefs condensed from Humanist Manifestos I and II.) Is it any wonder that despairing children are resorting to drugs and suicide?

With the lack of any fixed moral standards, the ever-evolving "Common Goals of Michigan Education" emphasize the emotional and social development of the child, constitutionally the responsibility of the parents. This is a radical departure from the past when learning was the one goal of schools.

Many of the Michigan Task Force reports reflects this philosophical change. Example: the Task Force on "Citizenship, Morality & Value Education" being used in Magic Circles, Focus Plan, Problem Solving Instruction, and other "Human Development Programs" — programs teaching that all values are equal. While we were told that it was a rapidly changing world, we were not told that our children would be the pawns, that we would become "A Nation At Risk."

Now the question remains: Will we allow the same people who have engineered these atheistic philosophies to engineer the solutions to the devastation that they have wrought?

We must find moral men and women who know what has happened in the world before they were born, who clearly understand the purpose of the schools.

Friends, come away from the bread and circuses and look for them. Your precious children, grandchildren, and this nation are at stake!

Those silvery-haired boys

Today we celebrated the 60th birthday of one of Ben's (my husband) best friends, George. Ben has lots of best friends. They were all good friends when they worked, playing golf on afternoons they should have been working, and playing cards on evenings they should have been making sure the little woman wasn't lonely at home.

Then three years ago Ben retired.

After him Karl retired, and then Tom and a few months ago, George. Ted is the last to join the ranks of the retirees, but his wife persuaded him that golf courses are better in Florida than in Michigan, so he blew a wad on a Grand Marquis and they are going to invade Florida in splendor... forever, they say.

Iggy retired a long time ago. He figured that since he had a working wife, there was no reason why he should work, and so he was the first of the best friends to walk on the sunny path of retirement. And speaking of sunny paths... these retirees don't even know the difference between a sunny day and a rainy day.

Take for instance the other morning. The alarm went off at 5 a.m. That is another thing about retirees, they think nighttime begins right after dinner in the lazyboy chair in the living room in front of the television set, and that day breaks before the sun has even gotten the message. And so the alarm went off at 5 a.m. I punched my pillow and sat up and yawned and asked how come he was getting up so early.

"I have to meet the guys at the restaurant," he said, "because we are going to play golf."

"It's raining," I said. I said this because I could hear the raindrops making a lot of noise on the roof.

"Then we will just eat breakfast," he said. "That is, if it rains any harder." And he put on his thermals, and five sweaters, and his rain suit, four pairs of gloves and rubbers over his golf shoes.

"If it doesn't quit raining," he said, "I'll see you pretty soon."

I thought maybe he was sick, so I made him take his temperature. I didn't think he was sick because he was going to play golf in the rain, but because he said he might come home if it kept raining. But he didn't come home — and it kept raining.

These best friends argue a lot. They argue about their scores and their handicap, and who paid for the last beer. They argue about whether someone coughed just as someone else was going to putt and whether they are going to walk up the hills or ride in a cart.

They buy dirty birthday cards for each other on their birthdays, and pretend they still know what those cards are all about.

But there is something rather beautiful and touching about men being able to lay down the burden of lifetime jobs, lay down the burden of raising and educating kids, and be able to revert to boyhood without a quiver of their silvery hair.

And so, to these retirees on Georges' sixtieth birthday, may those little boys inside of you never grow up and may you never find out that golf shouldn't be played on rainy days.

On being different

There were a bunch of us kids sitting on the stone wall at the Mohawk School one night. It was the "hangout" for the town's kids — and for those of us who came "up north" to spend the summers.

Two of us were recounting a visit that afternoon by a woman who was a friend of my aunt's. A woman we didn't know — but who had made a lasting impression on us.

"You should have seen her," we howled. "She didn't have any teeth and she wore this baggy coat and not only that, she had it buttoned wrong!"

"She wore this beret kind of thing," my cousin gasped, "And all the while she talked, it kept slipping down her forehead, and she would push it up and it would slip down and..."

"And she said 'dis' and 'dat' and 'wabbit' for 'rabbit'... Gawd, we thought we'd die! And every time she laughed she'd slap the table and her coffee cup would go flying..."

"Do any of you guys know her?" we asked. "Her name was 'Lemppi; or something.' And before anyone else could answer, Charlie said, "Yeah, I know who she is. She's my mother."

I can still see Charlie sitting on that wall—sweet, vulnerable, fragile Charlie— my favorite because he was all those things — his shoulders hunched, one foot tracing circles in the dirt, willing himself to be someplace — anyplace — else.

This wasn't the first time, of course, that anyone had noticed his mother was "different". The boys he hung around with kidded him good naturedly—but they knew when enough was enough. Charlie was the "kid brother" to all of them, and, for all their toughness, they were uncommonly gentle with him.

But the hurt this time was deeper, because it came from "The girls from Detroit"—the "Queen Bees" who held court on the Mohawk School fence every summer—the ones who, up until now, had treated Charlie like he was really something.

Other summers came and went, and Charlie was always there — but he held back and closed himself off and never again allowed us to "get to him".

I wonder which of us felt the loss more?

I wish I could say that, since then, my words have never hurt anybody. They have—of course they have. Some of us just never learn... but I've never sensed such profound pain as I sensed that night coming from Charlie. We might as well have cut him and left him to bleed. It couldn't have hurt any worse.

There is something else that gnaws at me now about that whole episode, and that is that I think if I could meet Charlie's mother now, I would like her as much as I liked her son.

She was wacky and funny and so full of life—and I suspect, in spite of it all, that she made Charlie happy. I remember my aunt telling us that she would start to grin the moment she saw Charlie's mother coming up the walk, not because she looked so funny—which she did—but because my aunt knew she was in for an hour or so of pure joy.

This woman—Charlie's mother—had the rare capacity to make people feel good. She was a "spring tonic" on a nasty winter's day, my aunt said. She told us this in a lecture she gave about tolerance after we got home from hurting Charlie and before we told her what we had done. Still, we never apologized to Charlie. In fact, we never mentioned it again.

I wonder if maybe we shouldn't be looking at strange and wonderful people in a different light. Maybe make national treasures of them and protect them and study them and discover what it is that makes them strange and wonderful and so enchantingly different from the rest of us—those of us who work so hard at fitting the established norm that we miss out on just living for the sheer joy of it.

Benefit was huge success

EDITOR — I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to all the people who supported our recent benefit jamboree to raise coats for children in our area.

The jamboree was a huge success, thanks to the many people who attended and brought coats and/or paid a cover charge to cover the cost of cleaning expenses.

Special thanks go to one of your staff, Howard Scott, for the article he wrote.

Our thanks and love also go to all the parents of the program who gave so much of their time, and to Wally Jackson and Sundown for providing the music and bringing in guest singers and guest bands. Among them were Bob Timmons, Cecilia Lee, and Kay Lynn. Also, Blevin's, Rush's, Stein's, and Westland Florists, who donated the carnations. They're future All-State gridders

The Romulus Flyers, a group of nine- and 10-year-old gridders from the area, went undefeated this season in eight games played. Coach Bill Hardrick and his charges play in the Western Suburban Junior Football League.

Romulus freshmen rule WSJFL

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Things might not have been as bright for the Romulus Eagles football team this year as coach Norb Glover would have liked, but if what is happening in the junior ranks of football in the city is any indication, Glover and crew have a bright future to look forward to.

A team of nine and 10 year olds from Romulus burned up the Western Suburban Junior Football league this autumn by going undefeated in eight games. The Flyers, under the direction of coach Bill Hardrick, outscored their opposition 117-36 on the year, and racked up four shutouts, including their last three games in a row.

Jobless census scheduled

The U.S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular survey on employment and unemployment in this area during the week of November 14 to 19, according to Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit.

Households in this area are part of the sample of 72,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The September survey indicated that of the 112.4 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 101.9 million were employed.

"This is the first year the freshmen have gone undefeated since Romulus entered the league in 1969," said Hardrick. "What we run is an instructional league. We teach the kids how to play football, and how to enjoy the game. If they happen to go on to play high school ball after that, that's great."

Apparently Hardrick and his crew of assistants have been doing something right. Of the 35 young men on the roster of Wayne High's Varsity squad last year, 17 were veterans of Hardrick's team.

Hardrick got involved with the youngsters 11 years ago, and has been around ever since.

"I had my own kids play in the league, but I enjoy it so much, I just stuck around after they left," said the coach. "It's gratifying to see all of our hard work pay off down the line somewhere. We have had three kids make the ANP All-Area team that played for us. That makes us all feel good."

This year, Hardrick and crew had a few more young gridders that may go on to future glory.

"Offensively, Marvin Penn, our quarterback, really carried our team early," said Hardrick. "He got loose for a lot of keepers when we needed them."

Virgil Davis, our tailback, also is an outstanding football player."

"On the defense, Marlin Hicks, Steve Hockett and Rich Evans all did a real fine job for us."

"This league is nice for the younger kids, because it has weight limits," continued Hardrick. "The bigger kids move up to junior varsity, and from there, they go to the varsity level, so the kids are playing against kids their own size."

"That's part of the beauty of this league. Maybe next year, one town's kids will grow a little bit more and faster than another's, and then things change around real fast."

At least for this year, all of Romulus' kids grew just right to handle the opposition, and the fans, parents, players and coaches all have accomplished something to be proud of.

Hagler in Romulus

Dennis Davidson, the Romulus director of parks and recreation, also works as an assistant in the Detroit Red Wings' Public Relations Department during home games. His background includes broadcasting experience as well as written reports for Associated Press and United Press International. Davidson serves as a field correspondent for The Sports Network, an all-sports wire service, and Dial It National Sports. His commentaries on pro, amateur and recreational activities will appear occasionally in The Associated Newspapers.

FIGHT OF THE CENTURY????

The 'Marvelous' one Marvin Hagler, stopped at Metro Airport (also known as Romulus International) to hype his upcoming mismatch with once great Roberto Duran for the World Middleweight championship, which Marvelous describes, hopefully with tongue in cheek, as the Greatest Fight of the Century.

Hagler has only one thing in mind, and it's not destroying Duran, but having the biggest pay day of his career. He might even, out of appreciation, let Roberto stay around until the fifth or sixth round.

The impressive notes about Hagler are that in person he doesn't look as mean as he does on the tube, is much more articulate than what you would expect and his accommodating manner with the press was outstanding.

When questioned about his pleasant demeanor, Marvelous replied "you have to have two different personalities in a sense. You basically have to understand what a champion is all about. A champion is someone who can bend down for kids and be able to help the elderly and contribute back to the community that supports you.

"I don't carry my hatred around with me 24 hours a day, there is a time period when you have to be the way I am today. But the closer to the fight you won't even want to talk to me because I'll be mean and that's the way I'll feel."

Hagler's Manager Goody Petronelli early in the press conference took a verbal shot at one of our local heroes by stating, "I only see two people missing here today, Tommy Hearn and Emanuel Steward." However, later on when Hearn's name was mentioned Petronelli replied, "We're here to talk about Duran. Hearn had his chance," referring to when Hearn injured his hand in training before a scheduled bout with Hagler. The Hagler people accused Hearn of being scared of Marvin and faking the injury.

WHEN DOES STEPPING STONE BECOME ROCK THAT SINKS YOU????

New coach Chuck Daly reportedly told some people in the East that he was only here as a favor to Pistons' GM Jack McCloskey and that he is going to use the Pistons as a stepping stone to a better coaching job in the NBA.

Good luck Chuck!!! Do you know where the likes of Dave BeBusschere, Dennis Butcher, Bill Van Breda Koff, Ray Scott and Earl Lloyd are today? They're not coaching in the NBA. In fact not one of the 16 former Detroit Pistons coaches is a head coach in the NBA today.

Consider this Chuck, Detroit has become a grave yard for coaches and managers of all sports. Do you know how many former Red Wing coaches there are in the NHL? NONE. The same answer goes for the Lions in the NFL, and there are only two former Tiger managers with Major League jobs today, Billy Martin and Ralph Houk. And you know what their future looks like.

RED WINGS NO LONGER DEAD WINGS

The Wings are off to their best start in recent memory. Part of their success is due to the blend of veterans and newcomers that GM Jimmy Devellano has put together.

One should not be surprised at the good start by rookie Steve Yzerman, because that's what you expect from a first round (fourth overall in the NHL) draft pick. However, you have to be amazed at his poise and hockey sense. He plays like he has been in the league for years, not bad for an eighteen-year-old.

The newly renovated Olympia Room at Joe Louis Arena is the IN spot to be after stadium events. The new decor includes a sidewalk cafe and a night club with disco music featuring new wave as well as oldies type music.

AREA RECREATION

The head of the Senior Citizens program in Garden City, Sue Wisocki, is instrumental in putting together Seniors' volleyball and softball programs. If successful look for more recreation departments to jump on the band wagon.

If you haven't been to Riverview Highlands lately you're in for a treat and a pleasant surprise. They've added another nine holes to an already beautiful 18-hole golf course. The complex also includes ski slopes and a luxurious lounge and clubhouse.

'Chicago' opens 30th season

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford will open its 30th season with a presentation of the musical "Chicago" for three weekends beginning Nov. 18 at the Guild Playhouse, located at 15138 Beech Daly, south of Five Mile Road in Redford. Curtain time is 8 p.m. on Nov. 18 thru 20, 25 thru 27 and Dec. 1 thru 4.

Set in the roaring twenties, "Chicago" is based on the book written by Fred Ebb and Bob Fosse and tells the story of Roxie Hart and Velma Kelly, two murder defendants awaiting trial. Tickets, priced at $6, can be reserved by calling 522-8057. Reservations are recommended.

Cane Creek Local band is making waves

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Feature Editor

Denny Armstrong fondly remembers wading in a small Tennessee stream as a youngster.

Today that stream, Cane Creek, has become the name of one of the area's fastest rising County Rock bands. Armstrong and fellow musicians David Stringer and Gary "Pee Wee" Custer of Wayne and Frank "Bubba" Monaco of Roseville are patiently waiting for their version of Cane Creek to make some waves on the charts.

"We've completed our first record and it should be out soon," noted Armstrong, Westland resident. "There are a lot of bands out there but many don't have the patience to stick it out until they can get their foot in the door."

"Talent doesn't have everything to do with success unfortunately," he explained. "We've knocked on a lot of doors in Nashville...you need to have some kind of 'in'."

In the meantime, however, Cane Creek can be seen locally most nights at the Mustang Lounge, 29709 Michigan Ave. in Inkster. Visitors will be treated to a professional show featuring the versatile talents of four performers who have spent most of their lives in the entertainment field.

Armstrong, 32, boasts 15 years in the business as a lead singer, guitarist and songwriter. Stringer, 25, is the drummer and has been playing for 10 years in various rock, jazz and blues groups. The 30-year-old Custer also has an extensive background as a lead guitarist, while Monaco, a bass guitarist and vocalist, is a recent addition to the group.

Cane Creek's sound is difficult to categorize. Manager Ed Samuels reports that many of the group's fans compare them with "Alabama." On their soon to be released record, "Tennessee and cable beat

... by dennis fassett

"This thing is going to be handled right," Mayor Thomas Taylor said in explaining his insistence that a city ordinance be passed prior to the implementation of his plan to build a municipal cable system for Westland.

The year was 1980. And the crack that sunk the Westland city cable system began to spread. Into that crack jumped political opportunism and ignorance. And leaking out of that crack was over $7 million in annual revenues to be lost by the city for good.

But more importantly, lost was the opportunity for the city to end forever the tragic loss of life resulting from residential home fires.

The Monday night quarter-backs reflecting on citizen rejection of Taylor's imaginative and innovative plan to harness cable technology to address Westland needs, still speculate on the reasons for the plan's demise.

Perhaps, if any one move by Taylor contributed to the early passing of his visionary plan, it was his insistence that the city adopt a municipal cable ordinance. Legally, morally, and ethically, there was no need for such an ordinance, argued the city's attorneys.

And by adopting an ordinance, Taylor allowed his political foes to take the issue to the citizens via the ballot box. (A city ordinance may, upon petition of the citizens, be placed on the ballot for approval). When later asked why he risked the plan by pushing for the ordinance, Taylor said that he wanted the municipal cable program handled well so citizens would have confidence in his idea.

But citizen confidence was a commodity in short supply thanks to the misguided effort of one city council person who vigorously campaigned against Taylor's plan, along with a small band of followers. Feeding on citizen distrust of government and government officials, the campaign to defeat the Taylor plan was based in part on a lack of cable knowledge, in part on the prompting of some cable executives, and in part on politics.

In addition, Taylor's defeat resulted from the fact that Taylor himself, after years of developing his program, was "burned out" emotionally.

In 1980, following council adoption of the Westland Municipal Cable Ordinance, and the successful petition drive to force the approval of the ordinance on the ballot, the opposition forces launched a campaign of suspicion and fear. Throughout the months preceding the special election where the ordinance was to face the decision of the citizens, the issue was to become Tom Taylor, and only secondly, Taylor's municipal cable plan.

"Government shouldn't be in the cable business," said some. "Government shouldn't be in control of cable programming," said others. "Government involvement in cable was just a further step toward Orwell's 1984 scenario" said others.

"But government should be in the fire prevention business," said Taylor. "Government should be in the business of protecting citizens," said Taylor. And, "government should not miss such a substantial new revenue opportunity," said Taylor.

Rallying behind Taylor and his plan were legions of informed citizens, nearly all community business leaders, nearly all local service clubs, nearly all educators. Supporting the opposition forces was a small group of sincere believers that government control of cable would be bad for everyone.

But most of the opposition consisted of people characteristically opposed to any new idea by government, and they were led by those who preferred to damage Taylor, even if the city was damaged also.

Most likely, many of those who voted to reject the concept of municipal cable with its 'Woodlands' fire prevention plan, did

Cane Creek

Me" appeals to Country listeners while the flip side "Testifying" has a definite Rock approach.

Such versatility has led to several prominent appearances for Cane Creek, including opening for Tanya Tucker and other headliners.

"Country isn't Country anymore," said Armstrong in describing trends in the music industry. "We play to all age groups. I guess you can describe our sound as Top 40 Country."

In addition to appearances Wednesday thru Sunday at the Mustang Lounge, the band finds time for practice sessions, cable television tapings and a growing list of promotional and business ventures. Music is their lifestyle, not a hobby.

"Business is tight but we're going to hang in there," declared Stringer during a recent interview. "We just have to keep getting our name out there. Playing at the lounge has a lot of self satisfaction in that there's audience feedback."

"It's tough playing in smoke filled rooms nite after nite," explained Custer, "but it keeps us in touch with people."

Success in the competitive music world does not come too often. Cane Creek appears to be one group willing to pay the price for a shot at the big time.

"We've done it for so long, what else is there?" Armstrong concluded.

Westland loses cable opportunity so because they had lost confidence in government. Most likely, those people still do not fully realize what had been lost, perhaps they never will.

Taylor's plan was imaginative, innovative, and promised to address some of the community's most important problems. But Taylor's plan was perhaps more imaginative than the people he asked to support it.

A wise man once said that the difference between a leader and a pioneer is that when the leader turns and looks back, he can still see the followers.

On that election day in 1980, when the City of Westland had the opportunity to take a giant step toward progress, and perhaps end forever the tragedy of home fires, Westland's mayor turned around, but could not see those following. And one Westland city council person, smug in victory, perhaps never understood the future she had cost the city.

Make the most of autumn's bounty

Besides rewarding eager appetites, the season's bounty stretches food dollars — deliciously. Fruits and vegetables which are "in season" are at their peak quality and lowest prices. Now's the time to take advantage of autumn's crisp apples and abundant winter-type vegetables.

With the weather turning cool, soup is a welcome and warming addition to the menu. Autumn Barley Soup is chock full of carrots, green beans, turnips, celery and bits of ham and receives a flavor and nutritional boost from wholesome barley.

Select your favorite apple for Harvest Apple Nut Bread. This wonderfully moist quick bread pairs fiber-rich quick or old-fashioned oats with shredded apples and chopped nuts.

The pie, surprisingly, is made of sweet potatoes and enriched corn meal which team up in Maple Sweet Potato Pie. Cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger and maple-flavored syrup enhance the rich, creamy custard filling.

Harvest Apple Nut Bread

2-½ cups all-purpose flour
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
½ cup chopped nuts
1 tablespoon baking powder
1-½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1-¼ cups firmly packed brown sugar
3 eggs

¾ cup vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups shredded apple (about 3 large apples)

Heat oven to 325°F. Grease bottom only of 9x5-inch loaf pan. In medium bowl, combine flour, oats, nuts, baking powder, cinnamon salt and nutmeg. In large bowl, combine sugar, eggs, oil and vanilla; mix until smooth. Stir in apple. Add flour mixture, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour into prepared pan. Bake about 1 hour and 10 to 15 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pan. Cool completely on wire cooling rack. Makes about 18 slices.

Autumn Barley Soup

3 qts. water
3 ham hocks (1-½ to 2 lb.)
2 beef bouillon cubes
1 garlic clove, crushed
Dash of pepper
¾ cup regular barley
1-½ cups cut fresh green beans OR one 10-oz. pkg. frozen cut green beans
2 large carrots, sliced
1 large turnip, sliced
¾ cup celery slices
2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley OR 2 teaspoons dried parsley flakes

In 4-½-qt. Dutch oven, combine water, ham hocks, bouillon cubes, garlic and pepper. Bring to a boil over high heat. Cover; reduce heat. Simmer 2 hours or until ham hocks are tender. Remove ham hocks; trim meat and add to soup, if desired. Add barley; return to a boil. Cover; simmer 20 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Cover; continue simmering 25 to 30 minutes or until barley and vegetables are tender. Skim fat, if necessary. Makes about ten 1-cup servings.

Maple Sweet Potato Pie

Corn Meal Crust:
1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup enriched corn meal
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup vegetable shortening or lard
¼ cup cold water
Sweet Potato Filling:
1-½ cups mashed cooked sweet potatoes (about 3 medium sweet potatoes)
¾ cup maple flavored table syrup
One 5-½-oz. can (¾ cup) evaporated milk
3 eggs
¼ cup margarine, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger

For crust: Heat oven to 450°F. In medium bowl, combine flour, corn meal and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water, 1 tablespoon at a time, stirring lightly until mixture forms a ball. On lightly floured surface, roll out pastry to form 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate; trim. Turn edges under; flute. Line pastry with foil; fill with dry beans. Bake 5 minutes. Remove beans and foil; continue baking about 5 minutes. Remove from oven.

For filling: Reduce heat to 350°F. In large bowl, combine all ingredients; mix until smooth. Place partially baked pie shell on oven rack; pour in filling. Bake about 50 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Garnish with orange slice, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

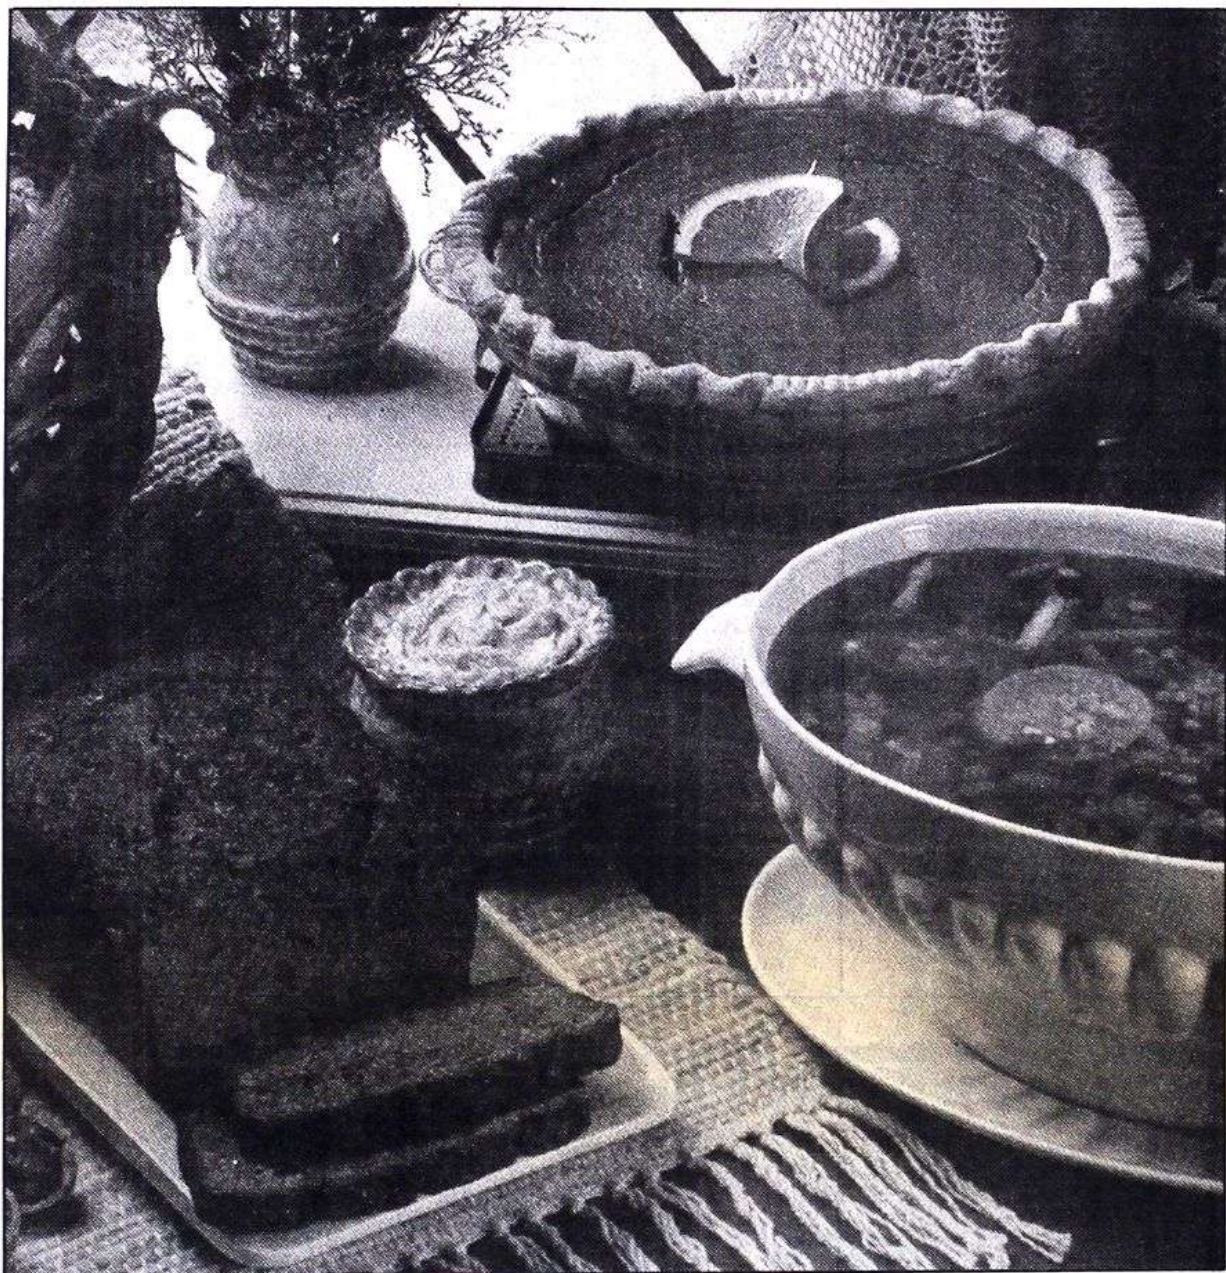

BPW thanks blood donors

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) extends a sincere "thank you" to everyone who responded to the Belleville-Van Buren Community Blood Drive by donating blood on Oct. 31.

Blood donors are a very special group of people who have a strong desire to serve their fellow man. Of the 117 who offered their blood, only 14 were unable to donate.

The Red Cross volunteers of Belleville and Van Buren, under Dolores Schenck's direction, were instrumental in making the drive a success.

Mary T. Czopek, Red Cross director of the blood mobile, expressed her appreciation to all those who worked on the project and helped in the goal to procure the needed and vital fluid.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

"Nellie, did I tell you I finished my Christmas shopping?"

This was the question that brought me to rigid attention — the one I heard put by one cashier to another — as I stood daydreaming in the check-out lane at the local market.

Shaking myself in disbelief — this was the day after Halloween for crying out loud! — I immediately checked the date on the daily paper to make sure it was November 1st lest I'd unknowingly been transported to some sort of twilight zone during my reverie.

Had I been within hissing range of that braggee, I'd have inquired as to just how many people she shops for; two?

Thinking I was well ahead of the holiday game (I have made a wee dent), her remark fired me up to taking all those gift catalogs I've been receiving seriously.

Unlike the last time I dwelled on those "dream books," (was it really three years ago as my files indicate?) the unicorn is now obsolete, thimbles have nose-dived and gnomes have gone back to Trollsville.

Last season's "biggies" — a too-cute dessert-titled character, an ugly creature from outer space and a family of blue-faced munchkins — while still very much in evidence, have dropped a few points on the toyland Dow-Jones. That's because it's a bear market this year and that trio is being upstaged by none other than — the ol' Teddy Bear.

Definitely "In", that loveable brown critter (resurrected in his original scratchy-fur, swivel-jointed form) can be found everywhere and on every thing! I challenge you to find a gift shop or Christmas department without that sober little face staring out at you! He's taken over paper plates, napkins, cups, coasters; greeting cards, note paper, memo pads; wrapping paper, calendars, stickers.

Patterns of his pudgy, rotund shape can be found on clipboards, napkin holders, lamp bases, bookends, door stoppers, candlesticks, windchimes, mobiles, charms, tree ornaments.

Teddy's imprint graces T-shirts, sweatsuits, socks, turtle-necks, ties, belts, shoe laces (somewhere in the transition, the alligator's also getting the brush-off.) Lunch boxes, tote bags, sheets, towels, quilts also bear (ahem) his impression. He's been painted, embroidered, stenciled, stamped, embossed, glued, applied and needlepointed on anything that will hold an image.

His popularity even extends to serving trays, ice buckets, coffee mugs, whole sets of dishes, plant holders, banks and just plain sit-around knick-knacks.

His form's been made up in sleeping bags, floor pillows, bedroom slippers (for kids of all ages), into soft sculpture rattles, tots' pajamas, mittens, hats, earmuffs. He's EVERYWHERE!

Oh, what a year for a certain politician to have announced his candidacy for the White House. All this hoop-la would have given him miles of free campaign promo.

And, speaking of Capitol Hill, wouldn't you know that it was a Washington figure — our 25th president, the old Rough Rider himself — for whom the ever-popular toy was titled. Legend has it that the Prez (who was called Teddy) saved or spared the life of a bear cub while on a hunting trip and — voila! The Fischer-Price people of their day fell on that and placed his name on their newly-manufactured toy — a stuffed bear.

So, move over Strawberry Shortcake, E.T. and all you smurfs — Teddy's back in town!

ON AN AVERAGE —

THERE'S NO ONE LIKE US, in the whole wide world and, as Average Americans, we've been documented as doing some of the following things.

— Of every 100 of us, 96 come into this world headfirst.

— Of every 100 brothers and sisters, 78 have at least pushed a sibling, 47 have hit him or her with an object and 20 have beaten up a brother or sister. On the flip side: of every 100 parents, 98 have at least mildly spanked their children, 20 have hit the kid with some object and four have beaten him or her up. Figures come from the National Institute of Mental Health.

— An average little American boy is more apt than an average little American girl to cry when frustrated. But a little girl is more likely to cry when hurt.

— By the time she or he is 13, the average kid has worked for someone for pay. Most often, it has been for cleaning, baby-sitting, waiting tables, cutting lawns, washing cars or windows or collecting trash. (Hm-m, what about all the paperboys and papergirls in the country?)

— One of every four working Americans says that he or she has to do things at work that go against his or her conscience.

— For every American who attends a professional football game: one goes to a professional basketball game; three go to a college football game; one goes to a professional hockey game; four go to a major-league baseball game; eight go to horse races and two watch greyhound racing.

— Despite all that we hear and read about women having babies later, the median age (23) of women having their first child has remained virtually unchanged for 40 years. However, this is because the preponderance of births is still to women below age 24.

—Using current divorce rates compiled by the U.S. Census Bureau, for every 100 couples married this year: 19 will be divorced before their fifth anniversary; 14 more before their 10th; seven more before their 15th; seven more before their 25th; three more before their 50th — a total of 50 divorces out of the original 100 marriages!

HOW TO DO IT BETTER

• Save the water from boiling eggs. It contains minerals and makes a beneficial drink for your houseplants.

• If you're separating eggs, do it when they are cold for better results.

• A slice of bread will often remove makeup smudges from dark clothes.

• Dough won't stick to your hands if it is kneaded inside a large plastic bag.

• If a cake is to be cut while hot, use unwaxed dental floss instead of a knife.

• Polish tarnished silver in a twinkling. Line a large pot with aluminum foil. Add three tablespoons baking soda for each quart of water. Bring to near boil. Drop in silver and let stand until bright. Silver must touch foil.

• Rub a small amount of salad oil on the inside of a cast iron skillet or dutch oven to keep it seasoned. Place paper towels between such pans before storing.

• Combine mixed dry herbs with softened butter. Wrap well and store in refrigerator. Add a tablespoon or two to cooked vegetables or sandwiches for a gourmet touch.

THE BOTTOM LINE: The six o'clock news is where they begin with "Good evening" and then proceed to tell you why it isn't.

In the community

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. William Graham returned recently after having spent a month visiting relatives in Canada. Enroute West they stopped in St. Paul, Minn. to visit a cousin, Naida Hewitt, before going on to Winnipeg, Man. it, where they stayed a few days with their daughter, Grace, and her husband, Rock Malloy; going on to Prince Albert, Sask., they visited Mr. Graham's 91-year-old sister, Mrs. Janet Hislop.

Returning home they visited cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingle, at River Falls, Wis., and spent a couple of days with their son, Jack, and family in Chicago.

Baby food labels will aid hospital

Saving the labels from Heinz Baby Foods will help support the C.S. Mott Children's Hospital at the University of Michigan.

The Heinz Co. plans to donate three cents for every baby food, juice and cereal label that Mott Hospital collects. The money will be used to purchase equipment and supplies for Mott patients.

"The Heinz label promotion, begun in connection with the Children's Miracle Network, Telethon, has the potential of producing a very generous and useful donation to our institution," William H. Borton, administrator of Mott Hospital said.

"Our hospital serves children from all over Michigan. As is the case with the annual Telethon effort, the drive provides people statewide with the opportunity to help us continue to provide the best possible care and treatment for Michigan's kids."

Labels should be sent to C.S. Mott Children's Hospital, 300 N. Ingalls, P.O. Box 50, Ann Arbor, MI. 48109. Inquiries about the promotion may be directed to the same address or phoned to (313) 763-4200.

Glenn claims 9th Fall Grid Classic

5,000 fans see Rockets rally past Zebras, 19-10

The mere mention of the Wayne-Westland Fall Classic football game between intra-district rivals Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial brings to mind a rich tradition filled with last-second victories, stunning upsets, and many thrilling moments.

Certainly the 1983 contest, played last Friday night at Wayne's Elliott Field before an estimated 5,000 fans, will take its place alongside the 12 previous games in this series.

The Rockets of Westland John Glenn fought off a stubborn Zebras squad, 19-10, to claim the City Championship Trophy for the ninth time.

Coach Chuck Gordon, coaching in his seventh Fall Classic, was pleased with the win.

"Anytime you beat Wayne, it's a great win. We have great respect for their coaching staff. We knew we would have trouble with them," Gordon said.

Glenn's victory allowed the Rockets to finish their season at 7-2. Wayne concluded its season with a 4-5 mark.

But, certainly, the Zebra fans had nothing of which to be ashamed despite the loss. The 33 members of the Zebras squad had given everything they had in this one, just as they had in the eight previous games of the 1983 season.

Coach Floyd Carter, coaching his 12th Fall Classic team, said, "Both teams played well. We executed well on offense. Our downfall was when we made key mistakes that cost us. Penalties cost us real bad. We didn't do the job in the second half on Boles."

Running the football has always been a forte in the Glenn-Wayne clash and this game was no exception. Tony Boles of the Rockets and the Zebras Michael Jackson added their names to the list of great rushing performances in the Fall Classic. They joined Todd Jennings' 194 yards in 1981, Rick Rogers 220-plus yards in 1980, and Fred Shoemaker's exploits on the gridiron in 1974, as memorable performances.

Boles rushed for 183 yards on 21 carries, the sixth-highest rushing game in school history, while Jackson picked up 70 yards on 11 carries. Both tailbacks played key roles in the respective teams' game plans.

The first series by both teams proved that. Glenn got its hands on the ball first and proceeded to move the ball down the field behind the running of Boles and Craig Thornton. A couple of incomplete passes thwarted the drive, however, and Glenn was forced to punt. Wayne took the ball, and with Jackson and Matt Mason running the ball at will, the Zebras were moving the ball consistently down the field. Glenn's "bend but don't break defense" stiffened and the Zebras were forced to punt.

Nice catch

Although Wayne quarterback Mike Quartuccio was on target with 11 of his 26 passes for a total of 123 yards, the Zebras came up short against natural rival, Westland John Glenn, in the annual Fall Classic. Above, Bob Matheney (44) has one of Quartuccio's passes in hand and pick up a first down.

Inkster buries Buena Vista, 53-0

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

One of the most improved football teams in this area is the Inkster Vikings, and Saginaw Buena Vista found out the hard way just how much better coach Arnice James' team is this year.

Friday afternoon, Saginaw fell to the Vikings, 53-0, in one of the biggest mismatches Inkster has probably ever been involved in.

"We were up 40-0 at the half, and I think his kids had just kind of quit on him," James said of his counterpart at Buena Vista. "We talked it over at the half, and decided to just let the clock run in the last two quarters. There was no use making things any worse than they already were."

It didn't take Inkster very long to put this one on ice. In the opening quarter, Earnest Robinson, Brian Jones and Darryl Groce all crossed the goal line. The Vikings then added two TDs by Lorenzo Haley in the second frame to bury their opposition.

Theotis Jones also got the Vikings six points when he returned an interception to the 40, and then watched Robinson dash the rest of the way. Mondo Tatum ended the long day for Inkster with a marker after a fumble recovery.

"Saginaw hadn't won all season, and they were uninspired," added James. "This wasn't much of a test."

James led the Vikings to a 6-3 mark this fall, after a 3-6 season (See MISMATCH Page 3)

Grand grid finale

Belleville edges Canton, 21-16

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Canton Chiefs and the Belleville Tigers wound up the 1983 football season for both schools in grand fashion Friday night, as the two non-conference team squads staged a battle royal on the Belleville playing field.

The score in the game seesawed back and forth throughout before the Tigers, riding the cleats of Leonard Armstrong, put the pesky Chiefs down, 21-16.

"That sure didn't look like a 1-7 football team we were playing," said Tiger mentor Mike Colletta. "They outthit us, and outplayed us. If it wasn't for the running of Leonard, we probably would have been in big trouble."

Canton struck first by dashing into the end zone in the first quarter. The Chiefs blocked a Belleville punt deep in Tiger territory, took over at the 17, and then went in four plays later when quarterback Tony Aiken ran the option to perfection. He charged toward the goal line, and then flipped the ball to Matt Flower, who was streaking down the sideline. Brian Callahan added the extra point to give the Chiefs a 7-0 advantage.

Belleville got the ball for most of the rest of the half, thanks to a rush of penalties that kept the Chiefs stalled. The Tigers made good use of the opportunity to tie the game in the second quarter, when Bill Armstrong finished off a 90 yard drive with a five yard TD. Ken Krug added the PAT to tie things up.

Six minutes before the half, Belleville took the lead. Again, it was Bill Armstrong who crossed the line, but it was Derrick Smith that made the score possible. He picked off a Canton fumble and fell with the ball on the 31. From there, Armstrong went in on the next play.

The two teams then took turns chasing each other up and down the gridiron, but neither could score, and the 14-7 Belleville lead stood at the intermission.

Glenn in fast company

Glenn's girls' cross country team qualified for the 1983 state women's Cross Country State Championships by finishing second in the State Regional Meet at Royal Oak Kimball.

Glenn finished second to Livonia Churchill, in a field of six complete teams, and five partial teams. Churchill placed first with a score of 33 points, with Glenn second with 64 points.

Leading the Rockets to the state meet was junior Laura Grazulis who was second overall with a time of 19:45 for the 5,000 meter (3.1 mile) course, Pamela Eldridge a junior who was fifth with a time of 20:07, sophomore Karen Opp, 15th, at 20:35, junior Theresa Hatkow, 23rd, at 21:33, junior Michelle Sanchez, 27th at 21:52, sophomore Kim Johnston, 32nd at 22:10 and senior Sharon Schoonover, 35th at 22:27.

"This was the goal of the team since the beginning of the season," said Rocket Cross Country Coach Ed Phillips. "Our league, the North West Suburban League, does not yet recognize Women's Cross Country, hopefully that will end this year."

"We won an exhibition league meet, however, we have been pointing toward the state finals since the season started. The women ran fairly well, hopefully, we will get better efforts from all of the runners in the state finals," concluded Phillips.

Also pleased was assistant Cross Country Coach Jackie Schomer.

"Churchill really ran well, but we are happy to get to the state meet. We will have almost everybody back for next year, and should be really strong for the 1984 season. I believe that the girls really deserve this, since they worked so hard during the year.

It has been a good season, and this is the way that you like to end the season, running with the best in the state. We are really pleased to be involved.

Churchill claims 3rd straight win

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Maybe next season, the Livonia Churchill Chargers should try and schedule Farmington Harrison for their opening game of the season.

The Chargers are a perfect example of just how fast things can reverse themselves in high school athletics. Four weeks ago, they were languishing at 1-5, and looking at the top rated team in the state next up on the schedule.

The members of the Wayne Memorial Zebra cross country team earned a place in the state finals last week when they finished third overall in a meet at Royal Oak Kimball High. From left to right, front row, are Dolores Simonds, Mike McGuffie, Bob Marshall, Mark LaPere, Brad Martin and Renee Gawne. In the back row are coach John Simonds, Mike Morgan, Tom Allen, Steve Long, Bret Thirjung, Ron Tolson, Tracy Osborne, James Ertman and Angie Wolf.

Salem finishes with 8-1 record

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

The Plymouth Salem Rocks overcame a shaky first half last Friday to crush Redford Union, 32-0 in the last gridiron battle of the autumn for the two schools.

The Rocks couldn't get any points on the board in the opening two frames, and they were lucky that the opposition had the same fate. Salem fumbled the ball six times in the first 24 minutes, lost it five of those times, and threw one interception in an uncharacteristic swarm of mistakes.

The defensive unit of the Rock squad played as well as ever, though, to keep the Redford Union runners out of the scoring zone.

After the half, the Salem team got things together, and buried R.U. quickly.

First it was quarterback Mark Tindall who broke the scoreless tie. He charged in on a 19 yard run, and Mark Dixon added the extra point.

Moments later, Tindall fired a strike to Craig Morton and he raced 51 yards for another TD. This time the point was blocked, but Salem had a comfortable 13-0 advantage.

into the flats made it 7-0 and the Rockets were on their way.

Wayne did not enter the game intending to give up that quickly. They came right back and marched down the field behind the strong right arm of Mike Quartuccio (Sr., 6-4, 190) and the pass receiving of Bob Matheney (Sr., 5-8, 160).

Matheney caught six passes on the evening and helped Quartuccio become the all-time season passing yardage leader in Zebra history.

Again, Glenn's defense stopped the Zebra offensive surge and Dennis Korzetski (Sr., 6-3, 175) came off the bench to attempt a 24-yard field goal. Korzetski's kick put the ball through the up-rights and Wayne had cut Glenn's lead to 7-3.

Gordon was proud of his defense on this drive saying, "It was one of the keys to victory holding Wayne to a field goal when they threatened to score more."

Carter and his Zebras elected to kick-off to begin the second half in order to have the strong wind at their backs in the final quarter.

Good strategy, yes, but the Zebras didn't plan on Dana Jones (Jr., 5-6, 159) running the kick-off back 17 yards to their own 49-yard line. Then, Glenn's running game took over, as Boles and fullback Tom Forchione took turns running the ball down the field. Glenn's offensive line, led by Mike Miller and Jim Vojak, pushed their way down the field, a year ago. It wasn't enough to make the coach completely happy, though.

"We wanted to win the league this year," said James. "We played three tough league games, but couldn't pull wins out in any one of them. If we could have won one or two of those, it could have been a different season."

Inkster finished behind Dearborn Heights Robichaud in the Suburban Athletic Conference this year. Robichaud finished 9-0, and is going to the state playoffs, but the Vikings have the consolation of having scored more points against the Bull-

After the start of the fourth quarter, that turned into a 19-0 advantage. Jeff Arnold, who gained 80 yards during the game, picked up 12 of those on a scoring run.

Scott Jurek, who has been leading the Rock attack all season, was not going to be denied in this one. He scored next on a 14 yard run, and Dixon added the PAT to make the game unreachable for Redford Union.

Just before the final gun sounded, Chris Raymond added six more for Salem on a 35 yard jaunt.

Jurek ended up on the top of the yardage sheet with 93 yards in 10 carries for the Rocks. Arnold's 80 yards came on seven rushes.

"Our defense played exceptionally well," said Rock coach Tom Moshimer. "We were lucky to get out of that first half unscathed."

The Rocks finished 8-1 for the second year in a row, and Moshimer admitted to being satisfied with his team.

"Naturally, you always want the one back that got away," said the coach. "We lost 28-25 to Walled Lake Central, even though we ran twice as many plays as they did."

"I can't complain too much though. The kids did a good job."

allowing the two running backs plenty of running room.

Glenn reached the 16-yard line when Hawley took the snap from center, looked left, then right, and found his favorite receiver, Rob Bell (Sr., 6-1, 147) open. Bell gathered the ball in and raced the rest of the way into the end zone for the touchdown. Chris Piazza's point-after was wide and Glenn led, 13-3.

On that touchdown play, Hawley became the all-time Glenn passing leader, surpassing the previous record of 1,339 yards held by Bill Lee. Bell's reception was the 24th of his career, breaking the previous record held by Jerry Cook.

If there was a turning point in this game, then that six-play, 51-yard drive was it. Even Carter admitted as much saying, "We wanted the wind in the fourth quarter and we squibbed the kick. Glenn got the ball and scored — that really hurt us."

But Wayne was not through, at least not yet. The Rockets took the ball and moved right down the field to score their lone touchdown of the evening. Matt Mason scored the touchdown on a five-yard run after being set up by Quartuccio's passing to Matheney and some fancy footwork by Michael Jackson.

Quartuccio's completed 11-of-27 passes for 105 yards. After Kortzetski's point-after, Wayne trailed only, 13-10.

Momentum had switched to the side of Wayne and, with Quartuccio's strong arm, looked like they were about to take charge of the game. But the Rockets had news for them. They took the ensuing kick-off and proceeded to run the ball right down the field.

First Boles, then Forchione, then a pass from Hawley to Forchione, all served to get the ball within striking distance of the end zone. Reaching the 27-yard line, Boles took the hand-off from Hawley and raced to the end zone, leaving several dazed Zebras in his wake.

Glenn's attempt for a two-point conversion went awry and the Rockets had to settle for a 19-10 lead. The defense took over at this point and kept the Zebras at bay for the rest of the game, although Quartuccio and Matheney played some havoc in their attempt to score.

But Glenn's defense, described by Gordon as "bend but don't break," stiffened at every challenge. Interceptions by Cass Simpson and Craig Thornton thwarted two drives and a school record 64-yard punt by Frank Sprinkle kept the Zebras pretty well bottled up in the second half.

Glenn had another chance to score in the fourth quarter but an interception in the end zone by Matheney killed that chance. In fact, Matheney almost set up a scoring chance for his teammates when he returned that interception 30 yards. However, time ran out on the Zebras and the Rockets proudly carried the City Championship Trophy back to Glenn.

early in the third quarter with another seven points, but Churchill rebounded to put them down for good. Foust again was the architect of the Stevenson downfall, as he scored his second TD of the evening on a 15 yard run. Stoitsiadis then added two on the conversion by rolling right and dashing across the goal line.

Stevenson drove again on their next possession, and appeared destined for a meeting in the end zone. Instead, on a third and eight play, Charger defenders Scott Papich and Dave Miez got through the line and sacked the quarterback.

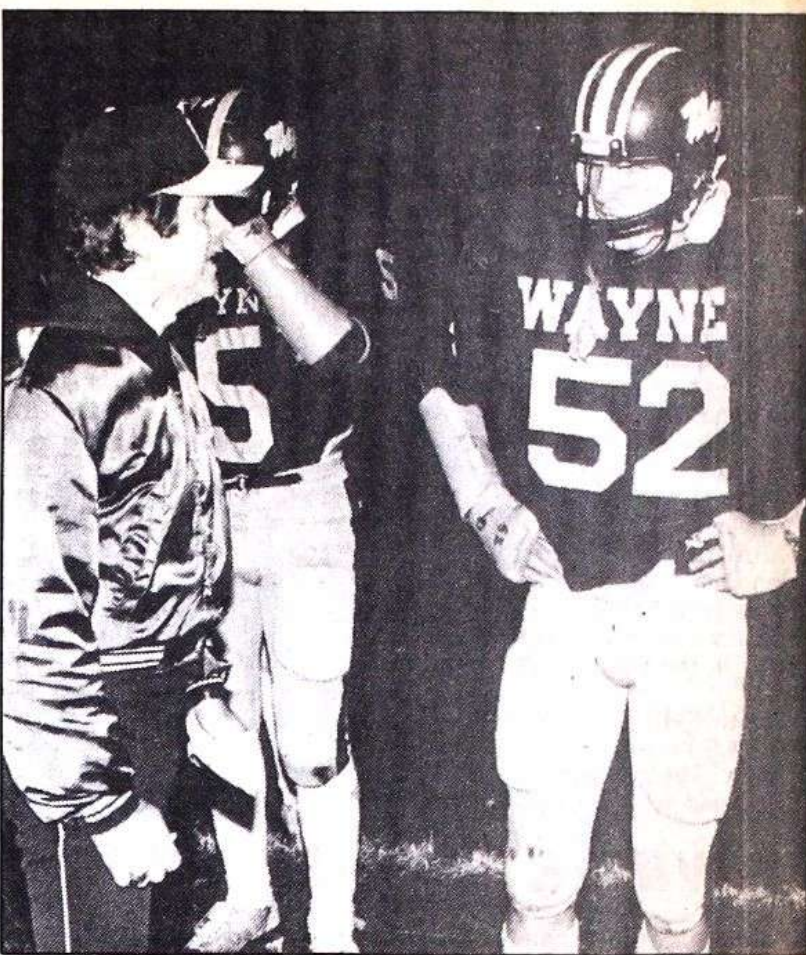

"That was the turning point in the game for us," said Churchill coach Ken Kaestner. "After that, the kids really took over."

Stoitsiadis then finished the scoring for the winners late in the game with an eight yard run after a 75 yard drive.

Foust topped the offensive charge for the Chargers with 141 yards on 21 carries, and Stoitsiadis ended a fine season with 52 yards on the ground, 36 yards passing, and two touchdown tosses.

Defensively, Rob Tracy made life miserable for the Stevenson offense with nine solo tackles, seven assists and two interceptions.

"I'm pretty satisfied with our season as a whole," said Kaestner afterwards. "We ended up 4-5, but it wouldn't have been too hard for us to be 6-3. I'm really happy for the kids though. They came back and did a heck of a job for us. They, and I, will remember the Harrison game for the rest of our lives. That kind of thrill usually only comes once in this business."

Robichaud uses victory over Romulus to vault into playoffs

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Six thousands of a point. After nine football games, seven shutouts and nine straight victories, the Robichaud Bulldog season all boiled down to six thousands of a point last week.

After the Bulldog's win over Romulus last Friday, the Robichaud squad matched records with Saline to see which team would represent Region Four in the state Class B playoffs.

Both Saline and Robichaud had 9-0 records and 856 total points. Their opponents had 31 combined wins as well, so the next tie breaker was instituted. That formula called for each team to take the total games played by their opponents and divide it into their total wins. For Saline, the number was .382, and for Robichaud, it was .388, thanks to the fact that River Rouge played only eight games this season instead of nine.

Saline later gained entrance to the playoffs also when the other team in the running, L'Anse Cruese, lost Saturday to L'Anse Cruese North.

Before all the fancy figuring could be done, though, the Bulldogs had to close their season with a win over the Romulus Eagles. That they did, as they scored in three of the four quarters to end up victorious, 35-6.

Mark Medlock put the first six on the board for the winners with ful. The Bulldogs couldn't convert the kick, so the score stood at 13-0.

Neither team could get the a ten yard run in the first quarter, and Maurice Smith added the kick afterward to make it 7-0.

Moments later Gerald Brazill broke loose for an 84-yard run that stunned the Romulus faith-pigskin over the line in the second quarter, and the 13-0 mark held up until intermission.

After the break, Robichaud went back to work with another touchdown. This one belonged to Mike Bowden, who went in from three yards out. Gerald Brazill then went across for a two point conversion.

Romulus got their only touchdown of the day on the next series when Terry Roache took the ball in from one yard away. That made it 21-6, and Romulus was still very much in the ball game.

All of that changed in the final period, when the Bulldogs added two more touchdowns to their total to finish off the Eagles. Brazill once again broke away for an 80 yarder, and Mathew Holyfield finished things up with a three yard marker late in the game.

Brazill's two runs helped him to an outstanding 252 yards for the day, and Medlock passed for 130 yards on seven completion. He closed the regular season with 1103 yards passing and 11 touchdown passes. Both are Robichaud records.

On the Romulus side of the field, coach Norbert Glover was disappointed in the loss, and in the season as a whole.

"We moved the ball on them all day, but just couldn't score," said the coach. "We should have had more points."

The Eagles closed at 2-7, and Glover also thought that should have been reversed.

"At the beginning of the year, I thought we could be 7-2," said the coach. "It just seemed like the chemistry wasn't right on this team."

Bulldog coach Bob Yauck, meanwhile, was making plans for Robichaud's match up with Saline this Saturday in round one of the playoffs.

"I'm very impressed with their team," said Yauck. "People made a lot of our seven shutouts, but Saline has had five or six this year as well. They have good personnel, and will give us a ball game."

That game will be played at Westland John Glenn, and will begin at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday.

half, and fumbled on the first play. Belleville recovered the ball at their own 39, but couldn't get far enough to do them any good. The Chiefs took the ball back, ran four plays, and then fumbled on an attempted punt. Again, the Tigers recovered and marched toward the goal line from the 18, but again, the Canton defense was equal to the test.

Canton then tied the game on their next possession when quarterback Jody Spitz raced in with the ball from the eight yard line after moving the team 30 yards. Jim Kaske kicked the PAT this time for the Chiefs.

It was the Chiefs' turn to take advantage of a Belleville mistake early in the final frame. This time, it was the Tiger kicker who had trouble trying to get the ball away, and the Canton squad tackled him in the end zone for a safety, and a 16-14 lead.

The Tigers weren't done yet, though. They came back to pow-

Rodney Boyd led the game in yardage with 113 yards in a losing cause for Canton. The Tigers were paced by Leonard Armstrong, who totalled 103 yards on 19 carries. His brother Bill had 82

Bulldogs jolt Franklin, 14-7

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

Games played between the schools in Livonia, no matter what sports is involved, are usually tough contests. Friday night, it was the Bentley Bulldogs against the Franklin Patriots in the football finale for both schools for 1983, and the game didn't match the expectations of at least one member of the Patriot crew.

"It wasn't a very exciting game from our point of view," said Coach Armand Vigna, who watched his Franklin squad fall 14-7. "We got one early, and then they did the rest of the scoring."

Franklin went into the end zone on its second possession of the night to take an early lead. Randy Hurst carried the pigskin in from the three yard line after the Patriots had marched the ball from midfield. Larry Patzsch booted the ball for the seventh point for the Patriots.

After that, the Bulldogs took over. They tied the game with a 75-yard option play in the second quarter, and then scored the winning TD just after halftime when they recovered a Patriot fumble.

Offensively, Dave Drabicki had a fine game for the vanquished with 131 yards passing on 11 completions, but the Franklin team couldn't get much on the ground. They had only 52 yards net for the contest.

The loss dropped the Franklin crew to 3-6 for the year, and coach Vigna admitted that he would have liked better.

"It really was a very frustrating season," said Vigna. "Early on, it looked like we were going to mature into a very good ball club. Instead, we didn't. We went downhill after a couple of narrow losses, and never really recovered. We played super, and with a lot of enthusiasm when we played John Glenn, and then the kids came out flat every game after that. I really don't understand it. I guess those two close losses took more out of us than I had originally realized."

Spartans end sad season

By HOWARD SCOTT
ANP Staff Writer

A football season that began with so much promise ended for the Cherry Hill Spartans last weekend, but not the way they thought it might five weeks ago.

The Spartans dropped their fifth straight game, 28-6, to Clarenceville to end their season at 3-6.

"We improved our offense a little bit in the game, but not enough," said Cherry Hill coach Jerry Pawloski. "Defensively, we still had lots of problems."

Those problems showed on the score sheet, where Clarenceville rolled up seven points in each of the first two quarters and then added 14 more in the third.

Cherry Hill earned its six points in the final frame when quarterback Mike Sasseeen lofted a 15 yard pass to Dion Gipson.

"For the first time all season, we got a runner with over 100 yards in a game," said Pawloski. "Ernie Johnson picked up 107 on 18 carries, so that was one good thing, especially since it was the last game of the season."

Johnson did the bulk of the running for the Spartans, since they generated only 120 yards on the ground all day.

"I think things went sour for us after the Annapolis game," said Pawloski. "We won three of the first four games we played this year, and didn't allow a point for 13 quarters at one point. Then Annapolis scored 20 on us almost instantly, and the kids never seemed to regroup after that."

"We went full circle. After playing so well defensively early in the year, we allowed 155 points in the last five games, and we scored only 14 in the same period. That pretty much tells the story, right there."

"Had we played better in the Annapolis game, I think things would have been a lot better for us. The kids lost their confidence, and never got it back. Everything went wrong for us after that."

Rockets in fast company

Junior co-captains Jay Hunt and Frank Shelly qualified for the state Cross Country Individual Championships in the state Regionals held at Royal Oak Kimball on Saturday.

Hunt, the defending regional champion finished third in a field of 102 runners, with a time of 15:48 for the 5,000 meter (3.1 mile) course. The race was won by Orrises Bumpus of Detroit Central High School with a time of 15:37.

"Jay ran very well, with his best time of the year. He was with the front pack the entire race, and was leading for a time, but Bumpus just outkicked him in the stretch.

state finals," continued Phillips. "He has shown tremendous leadership all season, but injuries have hampered his performances, but his best races are yet to come."

Over-all, the Rockets finished fifth in a field of 17 cross country teams, with the top three in the Regional qualifying for the state finals. "I was disappointed in the way we finished the season, finishing fourth in the North-west League, but the fact that all of our runners are returning for next season makes me feel that we will be a strong team in the future," Phillips added.

Are you guilty of slowing up the game?

By JIM WRUBLEWSKI
ANP Special Writer

I recently spent a few days in the Northern part of this lovely state and, with the weather true to its reputation, had plenty of time to sit and think.

Being a part time, so called, bowling "writer," you can guess where my thoughts wandered — bowling, naturally.

One of the things I encountered was a statistic indicating the number of active bowlers we have in this country.

Studies show that there are approximately 72 million of us spread across this land of ours. Yes, that's 72 with six zeros after it.

And the Detroit Metropolitan area, as the bowling capital, has one of the largest, and greatest, concentrations of bowlers in the United States.

I can't think of any sport that approaches that number of active participants. Quite a fair-sized family! And, on second thought, a family with about 70 million different styles of bowling.

Another thing that crossed my thoughts is a problem that is increasingly affecting our family, primarily the league bowler, and that's slow bowling. How often have you gone down to bowl on your league night expecting to start at your customary time only to find the group ahead of you still has several frames to go? It's discouraging to say the least and it could totally spoil the fun you set out for.

But let's consider whose fault it is. Who is really responsible for the hold up? Whether we like it or not, whether we are willing to accept it or not, the fact is that it is a few members of this family of ours.

And, it is up to us to correct the problem.

When there is an equipment failure, it's understandable that starting times will fall behind and neither bowler or proprietor should have a complaint. But what about those times we are responsible for the delay?

As one example, how often have you seen people waiting for a late bowler? This, in itself, is a nice friendly gesture, but think about what you are doing. You are not only going to delay your group and the next league, you are saying, "no sweat, it's OK to be inconsiderate and late."

In effect, you are rewarding tardiness. There is no justification for making others suffer for someone else's thoughtlessness.

Another offense is not being ready to bowl when your lane is available. Many of us like to emulate the better bowler and wait for an opening two alleys each way. This can really slow things down. Realistically, one alley each way is enough, but if you need more space, develop a rhythm which can eliminate the slowdown. Be ready to do the instant it is your turn. Have your ball in your hand, your shot planned, and everything set.

If you aren't ready, signal the other bowlers on the approach. Don't make a guessing game out of it.

As for the arrogant, I-dont-give-a-damn bowler, maybe a little taste of the facts of life might help. As league bowlers, we sign contracts with bowling centers for a specific day and time.

And when I say specific time, I mean both starting and finishing times.

This contract is a legally binding document which all parties are obligated to follow. If a league does not finish in the allotted time, (you will find that under normal conditions the allotted time is more than enough), the bowling center has every right in shutting down the lanes. Both the A.B.C. and W.I.B.C. have rules which cover situations of this kind.

We must also be aware of the fact that in the event these governing groups find that it is the bowlers who are responsible for the delays, they will support the bowling center's actions.

What happens if we don't clean up our act?

Well, as the second and third leagues lose teams, the revenues required to keep bowling centers operating go down. If revenues go down, then ways must be initiated to compensate for these losses, that is, less jobs, poorer service, dirtier surroundings, etc.; or the cost of bowling can go up. Guess who gets hit for the increase? That's right — you and I. As I said before, it's up to us.

In the Western Wayne County Youth Traveling Classic the girls were led by Jodie Hainley with a 214 for 542 and Chris Winters had 204 for 538. The boys were paced by Dennis Robak with 224 and 570 followed by Rod Jenkins and Scott Pennington with 204 each.

Johnson's, Jake's take command

With seven weeks of the Wayne-Westland Mens Over 30 Hockey League in the record books, Jake's Lounge and Johnson's Bakery continue their lead in their respective divisions.

In an action filled week of hockey with a total of 55 penalties called, Brock Builders fell short to Little Bills' Trophies 5-2 as Larry Kaifesh tallied for three goals.

Jerry Burzuk scored once and received one assist while Norm Beasley accounted for one goal. George Murphy received two assists as did Jerry Robertson while Dave Milam and Bill Creekmore picked up one assist.

Brock's got on the scoreboard with Paul Mayworm and John Colligan putting the puck in the net. John Davis, Rick Wolkowicz and Tom DiLaura picked up the assists.

Johnson's Carbonic and Family Heating battled to a 6-6 tie with Johnson's tying the game with 4:58 remaining. Larry Holt, Ron Johnson and Ed Harmon scored twice with Holt also picking up one assist for Johnson's. Tom Mazorowicz finished the game with four assists with Jim Drewry, Larry Monticello, Ron Blaszkowski, Perry Toefer and Ron Hays picking up one assist.

Ron Wojewski led Family Heating with four goals and one assist; Don Strauss tallied for a goal and two assists with Nick Palise accounting for one goal. Paul Cramer and Dennis Wysocki received one assist in the game. Bob Murray picked up two assists during the contest.

Futurama jumped off to an early lead and continued on to hand Jake's Lounge a 5-2 loss. Mike Trudel tallied twice and received one assist; Ron Tyranski scored once and picked up one assist with Dave Zielinski and Jerry Tapp accounting for a goal apiece. Jerry Bular, Bill Brown, Chuck Quint and Bob Capler each checked in with one assist.

Jake's got on the scoreboard in the second and third period on goals scored by Paul Kos and Ken Knick. Rich Riedel, Paul Briski, Guy Moise and Dave Zajac picked up the assists.

Johnson's Bakery continued on with its unbeaten record as they skated past All Sorts Sports 4-1. Ken Howe tallied twice; Dave Frankling scored one goal and received one assist with Phil Cerne getting an open net goal to secure the win. Rick Mullen received three assists while Chuck Heebsh and Al Pulk picked up one assist.

All Sorts Sports lone goal was scored by Ed Spontack early in the first period.

Mic-Dago Pub handed Tasee Freeze a 5-1 loss as Ken Murray, Joel Layne, Jim Creekmore and Dennis Darnell each tallied for one goal and one assist. Art Cazabon accounted for the remaining goal. Ray Schemanske and Tom Bryans received one assist in the game.

Keith Middaugh tallied for Tasee Freeze's only goal with Jim McMaster assisting.

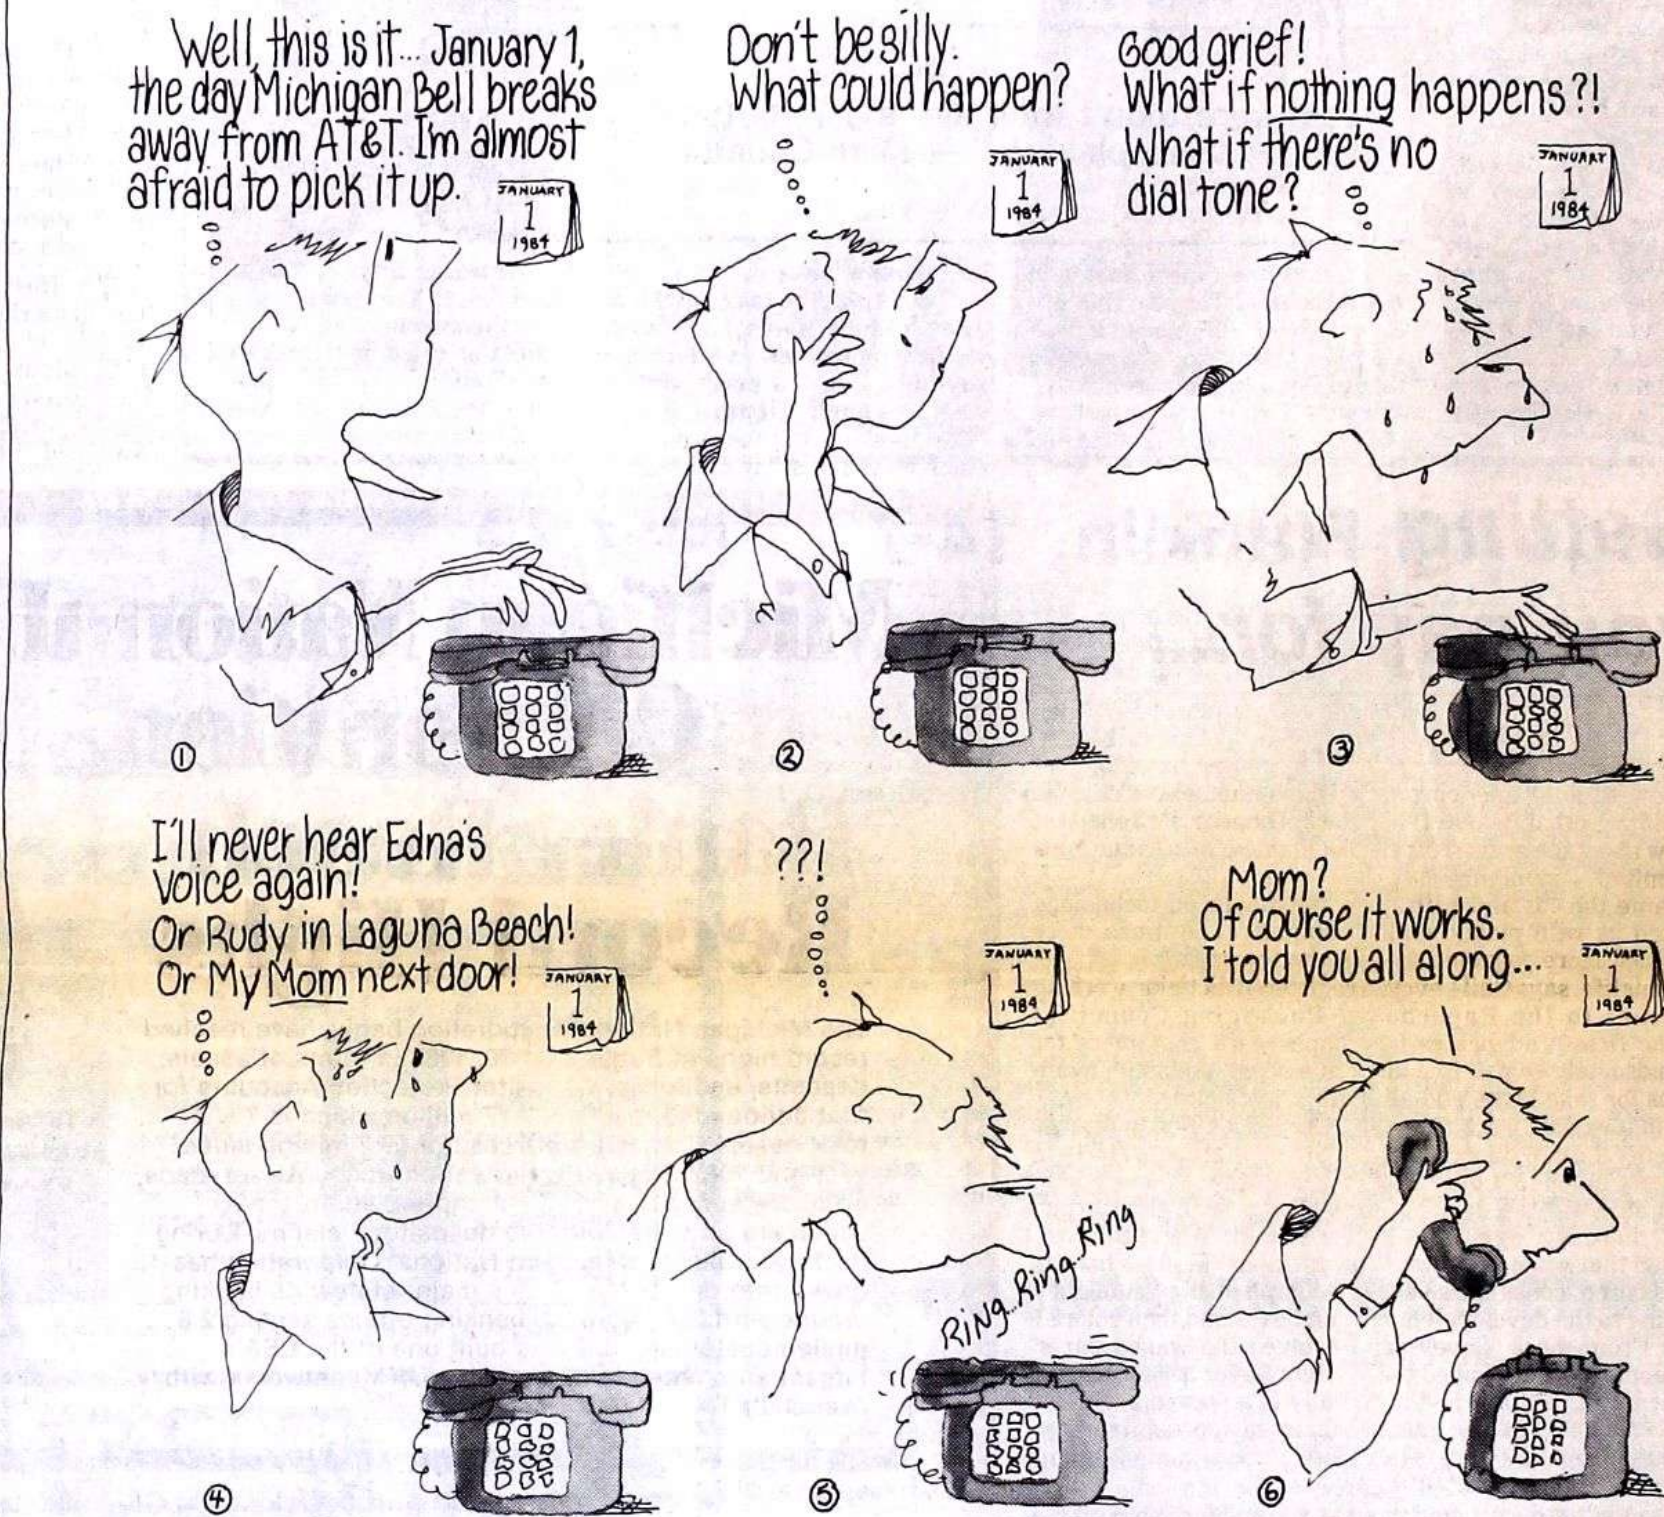

Over 30 Hockey games are played every Sunday in the Wayne Ice Arena at Howe and Annapolis. There is no admission charge.

Games to be played Sunday, Nov. 13: Johnson's Carbonic will host Tasee Freeze at 4 p.m.; Little Bills Trophies will skate against Jake's Lounge at 5:15 p.m.; Johnson's Bakery & Family Heating take the ice at 6:30 p.m.; Brock Builders plays Futurama at 7:45 p.m.; with the final game placing Mic-Dago Pub against All Sorts Sports.

Come January 1, you'll still get through to Edna in Engadine or your mom next door... as quickly and efficiently as ever.

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little. For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where LATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes — see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about LATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

So, as the expression goes — "not to worry." You'll still have your phone service — as good as ever — because we're working to make the changes in your phone company better changes for you. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM...
NOT YOU.

Facts down the line.

Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Getting what you pay for....

By SUE BACHAND
ANP News Editor

Remember those ugly paper cartons in which milk was sold... the ones coated with wax that flaked off into the milk and floated on top of the glass? How about the great stuff you could make with the cartons — crafts unlimited — remember?

But then came the 70s and with them the advanced technology which provided us with plastic gallon containers. So much more modern, so much more convenient — just better, right?

No, not on your life, says Gail Levey, a registered dietician working as a consultant to the Paperboard Packaging Council of America... she firmly advocates new paperboard containers for milk, now handsomely coated in a ultra thin sheet of plastic, available in gallons for take home and all in all, "just better."

Levey was in town last week from her New York office to discuss the appearance of the new paperboard containers in grocery stores in the area. She explained that overwhelming scientific evidence indicates that not only will the flavor of milk change with exposure to light, but that there is a significant loss of Vitamin A and B-2.

She explained that when milk was first packaged in glass bottles and left on the porch, consumers began to complain of a "sunlight" flavor — leading to the development of milk boxes and then colored glass bottles. From there, Levey said, evolved the waxed paper containers. People have described the sunlight flavor as tasting like mushrooms or burnt cabbage and it actually is a proven chemical reaction. The "modern" plastic gallons will let in approximately 70 percent of the light and that light is the cause of the vitamin loss and the altered flavor of the product.

"It really is a matter of just getting what you pay for. You pay for milk which is one of the most complete foods and is supposed to contain vitamins and nutrients. Plastic containers can rob you of part of the value of the product," Levey explained.

She is quick to note that her concern is not the plastic container at all — it is the amount of light the containers allow to reach the milk.

"You know, these days so many foods are devitaminized that people have to take vitamin supplements to compensate — milk shouldn't be one of those. If we would learn to take better care of the food we wouldn't have that problem," Levey said.

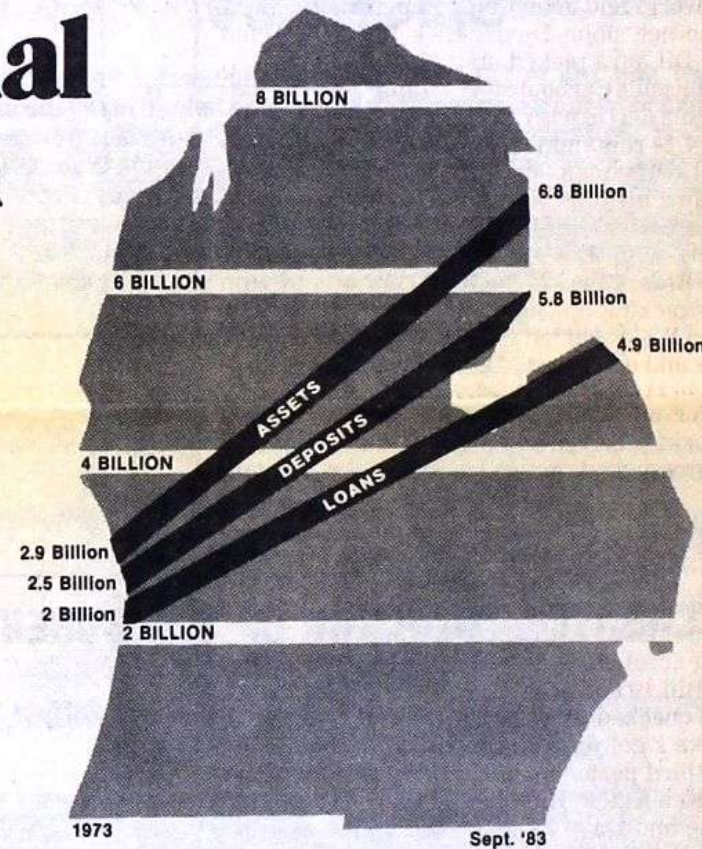

And it isn't only milk. Levey contends that any food with Vitamin C can be destroyed by light and she strongly recommends paperboard or colored, light-proof containers as a means of protecting the vitamin content.

"The new paperboard containers with the thin gauge polyethylene are ideal. A gallon of milk weighs nine pounds — these you can split in half when you get home and they will fit on a refrigerator door," she noted.

And Levey took some milk myths, as she described them, to task, along with plastic containers. First, she claims, adults do need the nutrients in milk — and once again, they ought to get what they pay for. Secondly, people with heart problems or those losing weight, still need the nutrients of milk and can substitute low fat or add powdered milk to low fat or skim milk for a creamier, no cholesterol or fat, vitamin-packed product.

world of wheels by denny campbell

I can't believe I'm actually committing to paper that I dumped a motorcycle last Friday. I mean, where is pride and ego when ya need it the most?? Several reasons compel me to mention this sordid incident, however... And one of them is pride!

If the Wayne County Road Commission workers who paved Joy Road had pride, they would have swept up the residue left behind; it's impossible to see black on black, particularly on driveway entrances to commercial buildings. Maybe we can get some Ford Motor employees over there to show the WCRC all about pride.

The second reason I mention the incident is that it's a natural opener to talk about Danny Leppen, who gave up motorcycles to pursue A.R.C.A. (Auto Racing Club of America) Street Stock racing in 1978. Danny, formerly of Romulus, now a Lincoln Park, finished in the top five A.R.C.A. point getters in 1979, took the championship in '81 and again this year. "Mean Old Alice", Danny's '72 Cutlass Supreme, is formidable competition in the Street Stock Class, but will nevertheless be replaced for the '84 season. So if you're yearning to get started in SS racing, get hold of Danny at Martel Tool in Allen Park; you might as well start with the best — "Mean Old Alice"!

And, speaking of Lincoln Park, I talked to Tom Kelly at Zubor —

What's a Zubor? — Buick to check on their first anniversary party — over 100 people champagne and hors d'oeuvre — to kick off a birthday sale! Tom says he sold his "birthday cars", but will give the special prices to anyone who stops to wish them "Happy Birthday".

Car Lot Prowling — Can I believe my eyes? The incredible Mustang SVO parked outside at McDonald Ford in Northville? A red Fiero at Armstrong Buick? A beautiful black Chevrolet Eurosport at Gordon Chevrolet! You can see it all in Eagleland... if you know where to look! But sometimes we need help — does anyone know the whereabouts of a black, lowrider Chevy step-side pick-up, louvered hood and tailgate, with a rifle etched in the rear window? If so, we'd like to hear about it! Call or write us at the paper — we'll cover this unique truck if we can find it!

Success is such a happy thing — Brent Charnock becomes the first one to sell a car over C.V.C. Wheel World and on the first day it ran on cable! Way to go, Brent! Honda City's Mark Gilbert heads for the Honda Motorcycle Intro in Las Vegas this week — maybe we can get some details on the long awaited 1200 Gold Wing when he gets back!

A Class B hydro goes on a trailer... right? And trailers have wheels... right? So, how about this 8'8" hydro, wood, with f'glass seaming. Powered by a Merc 20H outboard, she sees 40 mph pretty easily. A lot of fun for $400. Call Howard at 388-3725.

Any road rallies out there? Poker Runs, Car Club events, flea markets??? Let us know — we'd like to be a conduit for local events. Canton Corvette Club, where are you? Michigan Street Rods?

See you all next week, hopefully with Greg Cortis and his 427 Cobra... stay tuned!

For sale... boats go on trailers and trailers have wheels, right?

Protect yourself from thieves

You can protect yourself from car theft by following these four simple precautions to deter thieves, says the Automotive Information Council (AIC).

TAKE YOUR CAR KEYS WITH YOU — Leaving the keys in the ignition continues to be one of the most commonly reported explanations for how cars are stolen. If you park in a lot or garage with a parking attendant, leave only the ignition key. Remember to take the claim check with you, don't leave it in the car. A thief should not be able to leave the lot without the claim check. If you have a spare key, keep it in your wallet, or even better yet, leave it with a friend or relative that can bring you the spare key if you lock yourself out. Car thieves know all the usual hiding spots for magnetic key boxes.

LOCK ALL DOORS AND CLOSE ALL WINDOWS — Don't make it easy for a thief to steal your car. Car owners that leave their cars unlocked for even a minute while they run into a store are asking for trouble. An experienced car thief can take off with your car in just a matter of a few minutes.

PARK IN A LIGHTED AREA — Thieves would much rather steal a car in a dark parking lot where they are less likely to be detected. If you park on a dark street, turn the steering wheel sharply to the curb to lock the steering column. This prevents the car from being towed from the rear.

STORE EXPENSIVE ITEMS OUT OF SIGHT — Never leave gift-wrapped packages, newly cleaned clothes or expensive sporting goods out in plain sight on the seat of your car, it's really too tempting for a thief. Lock them in the trunk where they can't be seen. Remember to lock up removable CB radios, too, when the car is unattended.

These few simple precautions can go a long way in preventing car theft, but only if you remember to use them, says AIC.

OUT THEY GO! Regardless of Price!!! And Believe Me, They Must!!

America is the Number One Nation on Earth and the Number One car market in the entire world. We say Thanks America for making us Number One in our product line with American Motors. We are so proud everything we sell and say is American all the way! Why does Taylor AMC Jeep Renault keep 700 new Cars, Jeep and Trucks in stock? Because they are the largest in the United States. All our deals are based on volume. Therefore, we can sell them for just a few dollars over our cost because we sell such astronomically large numbers of new vehicles. Far less profit per unit is required for us to stay in business. Thus, we pass these fantastic savings on to you, our ever valued customer, and continue to maintain our ever precious and valued name as the Number One Give-A-Way Artists in America. Ladies and gentlemen, these are not good deals . . . they're a steal.
